Observers See Failure of Amendment Prohibiting
Further Issuance of Tax
Exempt Bonds.

MELLON'S PROGRAM
VIRTUALLY DEFEATED

Defeat of the Secretary's Plans Blocks Means of Restoring Big Incomes to Productive Industry.

Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, February 28.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—All hopes of having congress this session refer to the several states for ratification of the proposed amendment to the constitution prohibiting further issuance of tax exempt securities were practically abandoned today when it was revealed that the senate judiciary committee has decided not to issue a report on the measure. Although already passed by the house, it is doubtful whether an amendment, even though favorably reported by the senate committee, could be finally approved within the three remaining days of the session, due to its controversial character.

Congress, now nearing its close, has rejected virtually in their entirety the recommendations made by Secretary Mellon of the treasury, looking to the checking annual losses due to income tax evasions, estimated to aggregate millions.

With the decision of the judiciary committee, action on the tax exempt amendment will be delayed for a year and investment in these bonds will go on at the estimated rate of $1,000,000,000 annually, absorbing capital that under ordinary conditions would be employed in the development of private industry.

While Mr. Mellon's principle project in sponsoring the amendment was to stop income tax evasions, he added the argument that the removal of tax exempt securities from the market would restore the use of big incomes to productive industry, where fresh capital is needed.

Blame Conservatives.
The failure of the Mellon plan is largely attributed to the conservatives in congress, it is declared.

There is another feature, however, for the failure of the recommendation that surtaxes on income be graded down to a maximum of 25 per cent, instead of a maximum of 50 per cent. With the normal tax added, Mr. Mellon would have made the highest tax 33 per cent instead of the present 58 per cent.

Progressives opposed the recommendation on the ground that it meant the relieving the rich men of their fair share of the burdens of taxation and the conservatives were afraid to press it.

Neither did figures presented in support of the plan impress progressives. The maximum of 50 per cent applies to all taxable incomes in excess of $200,000. Mr. Mellon showed that incomes in excess of $300,000 had decreased from 1,200 in 1913 to 385 in 1920, and it is said the number is steadily decreasing. The total amount of such taxable incomes for the same period decreased from $902,372,980 to $240,345,585. This did not prove to the progressives, however, that it would be wise to lessen the tax.

Other Troubles.
Secretary Mellon is also having trouble with other measures, proposing a number of changes in the de-

This bill gives to Judge W. B. Wood an appellate jurisdiction over Judge Richard Basted.

SHIPPING BILL DIES IN SENATE ON ANNIVERSARY

Measure, After Severe
Handling by Solons,
"Laid to Rest" With Other "Unfinished Business."

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, February 28.—The administration shipping bill died today just a year to the day after it was born.

On February 28, 1922, President Harding, appearing at a joint session of congress, urged enactment of legislation designed to build up an American merchant marine through government aid and identical bills embodying the views of the administration were introduced in the senate and house. Today the bill then introduced, after having passed the house in the meantime, met its death in the senate through adoption of a motion to lay it aside.

The end of the legislation, which the president has advocated with all the powers at his command, leaves the administration where it was a year ago in dealing with the $3,000,000,000 investment in war built ships. The task of liquidating this investment already has been made the subject of study and the plans under consideration are to be announced soon after congress adjourns Sunday.

End Comes Quietly.
The death of the shipping bill came quietly and without the bitter discussion which marked its hectic career. Under agreement, the senate promptly at 1 o'clock proceeded to vote on the motion of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the acting democratic leader, to send the ship measure back to the committee.

Administration leaders, including Senator Jones, republican, Washington, who has been in charge of the legislation in the senate, had indicated their opposition to this course, and the motion was voted down, 40 to 36.

The final blow then was dealt the bill, which was given up as lost last Friday by its supporters after a four-day filibuster. Senator Ladd, republican, North Dakota, moved that it be laid aside in favor of the filled milk bill, and the motion was carried, 63 to 7 with the republican leaders voting with the majority. The action meant the death of the shipping measure in as much as Senator Jones had told the senate he would make no further efforts to call the bill up before adjournment.

Harding Gives Up.
The action also was taken to mean the end of such legislation for years to come, for President Harding has let it be known that the administration plans no attempt to obtain consideration for the bill at the next regular session of congress.

The filled milk bill, which prohibits the shipment in interstate commerce of evaporated or condensed milk when made from skimmed milk and such oil substitutes for the withdrawn butter fat as cotton seed and coconut oil, was debated intermittently through the remainder of the day.

Hard Times Come For Bootleggers, Income Tax Near

Revenue Office Now Busy
Checking Up 122 Profits of Liquor Purveyors.

Bootleggers in the Georgia district, who have not made full and complete returns showing the exact amount of their incomes for all the periods for which returns are required, will have simple cause to regret their attempt to avoid paying a tax, according to a statement issued by Josiah T. Rose, internal revenue collector, Wednesday.

The statement of Mr. Rose follows closely on the publication of developments in Savannah where 17 indictments have been returned against alleged bootleggers who failed to make returns according to law.

That the collector means business is shown by the announcement that papers are being prepared, based on data on incomes of illegal purveyors of spirits, and will be used in securing indictment after indictment against this class of double law evaders.

Pity the Poor Judges Who Will Have to Select Winners For Legion Show From So Many Beautiful Atlanta Belles

EVEN KING SOLOMON WOULD FIND HIMSELF PUZZLED TO PICK THE PRETTIEST

Many Pictures Already Received, But More Are Desired by Legion Committee in Charge.

These entrants into the American Legion beauty contest are certainly going to make it hard for the committee of judges in Atlanta to play the roles of "Miss Columbia" and "Mother of America" in the patriotic tableau, "Carry On," which is to be shown in conjunction with the feature film classic, "The Man Without a Country," and several other features of the legion show, at the Atlanta theater all of next week except Friday; another production has it for this date. There will be a matinee at 2:30 o'clock and two night performances beginning at 7 and 9 o'clock.

It was hard enough Wednesday to pick the two most beautiful out of the three photographs published, but the new entrants multiply the difficulty, the beauty contest committee avows, and begins to feel sorry for the committee of judges which is to consist of three prominent women and an equal number of well known men, their names to be announced later.

The legion is very much gratified, the committee said, with the way that Atlanta girls are accepting the cordial invitation to enter the contest and aid in making of the tableau one of the most beautiful, if not the most beautiful, yet staged by the legion show on a tour of the world.

Many pictures are coming in to the Constitution offices. But the legion wants more of them, for through the courtesy of The Constitution, it will continue to publish groups of photographs of beautiful girls throughout this week and Sunday.

Without identifying any of the pictures yet received, the committee states that several of Atlanta's most attractive debutantes and subdebs have been published, and more are yet to be published.

The legion is planning to entertain every one of the entrants in its beauty contest with box parties during the showing here.

The public is clamoring for the names of the entrants to the contest, asking that they be published with the pictures. Therefore, the legion, wishing to save them this annoyance, withholds the identity of all except the two who will be selected as a nuisance to them. Therefore, the legion, wishing to save them this annoyance, withholds the identity of all except the two who will be selected as a nuisance to them.

Artists are now at work building and draping the tableau set, and it is said by the committee that, with a few changes, the tableau as it will be posed and shown in Atlanta, will be even more beautiful than that of Louisville, the picture of which, with the Louisville beauties, was published throughout the country and in some foreign countries as an example of beauty and patriotism. Every person of the twenty-four appearing in it will be an Atlanta.

"The Man Without a Country," starring Arnold Daly and featuring 23 other celebrated actors and actresses, will be another big number of the five features show. There will also be a comedy, a splendid orchestra and a special score of music.

Plea of Masons For Payne Will Be Heard Monday

Lebanon Lodge Will Appear as Organization Before Prison Commission.

Lebanon Masonic Lodge, No. 635, will appear as a body before the state prison commission Monday morning at 10 o'clock and as an organization apply for a pardon for W. L. Payne, former Atlanta detective now serving a sentence on a bribery charge, according to Arthur J. Dunlap, secretary of Lebanon lodge.

The action of the Masonic organization to secure a pardon for Payne is an aftermath of a trial of Payne before the lodge on February 12, at which time he was practically unanimously acquitted of the charge of bribery for which he was convicted in the state courts, according to the secretary.

Probably First Case.
This move of a Masonic lodge to secure a pardon for one of its members is probably the first instance of the kind on record, and is certainly the first movement of the kind known to have happened in Atlanta.

W. L. Payne was convicted on the charge of bribery. The charge was brought against him during the bureau investigation several years ago, and at the trial Nat McWhorter, negro bootlegger, was a principal witness against the detective.

According to Mr. Dunlap, the trial of Payne before the lodge on February 12 developed that it was merely a question of taking the word of the negro bootlegger, himself now serving a sentence, or taking the word of Detective Payne. Members of the lodge voted to acquit Payne practically unanimously and Mr. Dunlap expressed the opinion that the few votes which failed of making the acquittal unanimous were cast by mistake because members did not understand the balloting rules.

Lodge Meets Monday.
Notice of intention to apply for a pardon for Payne was filed Wednesday with the state prison commission, and arrangements made whereby the members of the lodge are to appear before the commission Monday morning.

A special called meeting of the lodge has been scheduled for 9:30 o'clock Monday morning at the Masonic temple, according to Mr. Dunlap, and minutes will be taken at this meeting, which will become a portion of the lodge records. Mr. Dunlap declared.

Making public the results of a trial of a member, also, was considered unusual, but not irregular. Plans of the Masons were to move very quietly in the matter, due to the unusualness of the undertaking.

J. D. Caraway is worshipful master of Lebanon lodge; Frank M. Terrell, senior warden; H. J. Franklin, junior warden; and Arthur J. Dunlap, secretary.

GEORGIA AND TECH TO MEET TONIGHT IN BASKET BATTLE

Victory Over Centre Colonels Sends Tech Into Third Round—Game to Start at 9:30 O'Clock.

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY.

Glorious victory over the Centre Colonels last night in the second round of the intercollegiate basketball championship tournament being played at the Auditorium gives Georgia Tech a chance to square accounts with the Georgia Bulldogs, who stepped the local collegians two years ago on the same duelling ground. Last night's triumph was the result of a desperate rally in the second half in which the Yellow Jackets pulled down the Colonels' lead and crossed the wire in front, 34 to 26.

The meeting tonight marks the second renewal of the Georgia-Tech basketball classic in three years. In the first tournament, held at the Auditorium in 1921 the Bulldogs were returned winners by a 5-point margin. Last year the "luck of the draw" placed them in separate brackets and both were eliminated before the final round. The game two years ago was the first break in the dark cloud that has hovered over athletic relations between Georgia and Tech since the spring of 1919.

Since the tournament pairings were first announced, showing the possibility of a game between these rivals of old, thousands of applications for seats have been received at the Atlanta Athletic club. It was "started last night by tournament officials that but few seats remained and that they would be disposed of to the first purchasers. This indicates that the greatest crowd that has ever witnessed a basketball game in Atlanta will be on hand tonight when Georgia and Tech reach the floor at 9:30 o'clock.

Special Train Planned.
According to reports from Athens received last night by The Constitution, a special train bringing Georgia's student body will leave the Classic City this afternoon and hundreds of Athens supporters of the Red and Black are expected to accompany the students. It had already been announced that in case Georgia and Tech fought their way to a meeting the Bulldogs' band would be on hand.

Tech has been installed as favorites over Georgia. The situation is exactly opposite from that of two years ago, when the Red and Black combination was recognized as one of the greatest.

Get Tags Today Or Leave Autos Parked at Home

Last Day Here and Many Thousands of Owners Are Still Unprovided.

With automobile registrations approximately 15,000 behind the registration for the same date in 1922, attaches of the office of Secretary of State S. G. McLenon prepared Wednesday for the busiest day in the history of the department today, which will be the final opportunity for securing automobile license tags without the payment of a penalty.

Under the license tag law, motor car owners are required to procure their tags on or before March 1. When the department closed Wednesday afternoon approximately 92,000 tags had been issued, whereas at the corresponding time last year about 107,000 had been issued.

Each mail brings an avalanche of applications, according to Charles Cook, state automobile license clerk, and his workers are filling the mail orders as rapidly as possible.

Ready Co-Operation of
Shippers and Carriers
Greatly Aiding Com-

Efforts of the interstate commerce commission to serve the public are being greatly aided and its problems materially simplified through ready co-operation being furnished by both shippers and carriers of the country, in the opinion of Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman, of the interstate commerce commission, who was guest of honor at a dinner given by the Traffic club of Atlanta, at the Ansley hotel Wednesday night.

Commissioner Eastman is in Atlanta in connection with the class rate investigation being carried on by the commission.

"Both the shippers and carriers of the south," declared Mr. Eastman, "have done a great deal of creative work in connection with the present hearing, and out of the combined efforts of the shippers, carriers and the commission, we hope to accomplish the gigantic task of adjusting rates in this section so that the greatest good may be done to the greatest number."

COMMITTEE VOTES $400,000 FOR U. S. COAL COMMISSION

Federal Body Would Also Be Given Enlarged Powers Under Borah Bill Passed Wednesday.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, February 28.—The appropriation of $400,000 asked by the federal coal commission and denied by the house, was added today to the deficiency appropriation bill by the senate appropriations committee.

The deficiency bill, with the coal commission item, the principal addition of the senate committee, is to be brought up tomorrow in the senate. The $400,000 appropriation is being sought by the commission as a necessity to its future usefulness, members having declared they would be obliged to discontinue their work if the funds were not provided.

In addition to the increased appropriations recommended by the senate committee, the commission would be given enlarged powers under another bill by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, passed today by the senate and sent to the house.

FORMER MOBILE C. OF C. SECRETARY KILLS HIMSELF

St. Louis, Mo., February 28.—Edwin J. Troy, 48 years old, former secretary of the chamber of commerce of Mobile, Ala., shot and killed himself at his home here today. He left a note to his wife saying his action was due to failing health.

A former newspaperman, Mr. Troy, was connected with the publicity department of the world's fair here in 1904.

Later he served as secretary of the Mobile chamber of commerce for several years and returning here, became a secretary of the Manufacturers' and Merchants' Association of St. Louis. He resigned last month to become a bond salesman.

He is survived by his widow and a daughter.

Prison Commission Has Not Yet Acted On Lash Abolition

Return of Judge T. E. Patterson, member of the state prison commission, will be awaited by that body before any action on the recent order of Governor Hardwick for abolition of the use of the lash in state convict camps, is taken. Judge Patterson, who is out of the city on business of the commission, will be back by the end of the week and action will probably be taken then or early next week.

In the meantime no official notice has been sent to the county wardens over the state and it is stated that if any of these officials have acted upon the governor's order already, they have done so upon the strength of newspaper stories only.

The commission, when it meets, will have to devise some form of punishment to be used in place of the banned whippings, and this substitute will have to be sent to the governor for his approval before official adoption.

United States Consulate At Newcastle-on-Tyne Will Not Be Reopened

Washington, February 28.—The British government was notified today by Ambassador Harvey in London that the United States had issued orders that its consulate at Newcastle-on-Tyne was not to be reopened and that disposition was to be made of the lease on the consular premises.

The decision grows out of Great Britain's cancellation of the exequatur and recognition of Consul Slater and Vice-Consul Brooks, who were charged with discriminating against British vessels.

NEW MUSCLE SHOALS BILL IS INTRODUCED

Washington, February 28.—Another Muscle Shoals bill was introduced today in the house—this one proposing that the property be turned over to a company to be formed by John Kissel, a republican member of the house from Brooklyn. It was dropped into the hopper by Representative Hogan, republican, of New York.

The bill followed the identical lines of the Ford offer, as modified, except that a $6,000,000 cash payment would be made instead of the $3,000,000 in the Ford plan. The sections relating to the manufacture of nitrates for fertilizer remained unchanged.

Cabinet Members Told

vaders Would Cause Uprising in Nation.

CUNO CONSIDERS REGIME
NOW IN GREAT PERIL

Would Make Concessions to Socialists—Government May Appeal to U. S. to Intervene in Ruhr.

BY FERDINAND JAHN.

Berlin, February 28.—German faces a revolution if she backs down in her course of resistance against the French in the Ruhr. Chancellor Cuno made this admission Wednesday to his cabinet ministers who were called together to discuss the government crisis.

It is impossible, the chancellor declared, to start overtures for settlement with France now, as such a move would incense the nation and make internal uprisings inevitable.

Cuno considers his regime in such peril that he even advocated making more concessions to the Socialists party concerning the demand of the radicals that self-defense organizations, which have sprung up all over the country since the French invaded the Ruhr, be dissolved and that a heavier burden of taxation be imposed on the rich.

These two parties menace the political life of Cuno's "business administration."

1. The socialists, who demand that the government do all in their power to induce the French to withdraw from the industrial area, fearing that continued occupation will inevitably lead to another European conflict.

2. The extreme nationalists, into whose fold the Junker monarchists have come, who are busily engaged in organizing the nucleus of a national army which, it is hoped, will be able eventually to drive out the invaders.

Sense Objections.
In case concessions are made to the socialists, as recommended by Cuno, it is almost certain that the nationalists will strenuously object, causing great embarrassment to the government.

German fascists, headed by General Ludendorff, are leaders of the nationalist movement in Germany. The present situation is similar to that in Italy prior to the time that Benito Mussolini, leader of the Italian fascists, was swept into power.

Cuno's government is perturbed over the Ruhr that the nationalists are already active in stirring up more trouble with the French. The chancellor does not believe that Germans of the Ruhr should go farther than passively resist the French.

French officials have placed Friedrich Wilhelm Friedrich von Lippke, in his possession, it was stated, that the price is a member of a secret organization in the Ruhr whose mission it is to foment trouble with the invaders.

The French claim to have confiscated full membership lists of the Swastika society, which is monarchist in its leanings and bitterly anti-French.

May Appeal to U. S.
Members of the Cuno government are believed to be seriously considering the proposition of making a direct appeal to the United States to intervene in the Ruhr. The appeal is being authoritatively stated, would suggest to America that she cannot stand by unaffected by events in the Ruhr.

France Starts Greatest Moral Drive in History

Spurred by Charges of Returned Soldiers That the Country Is "Depraved."

BY HUDSON HAWLEY.

Paris, February 28.—France, spurred on by charges of returned American soldiers that the thought of the nation is "depraved and vicious," has started one of the greatest moral crusades in history. Not since the day of the late Senator Berenger, famed for his "Father Decency" and the "Anthony Comstock of France," has an anti-vice movement of such scope swept over the country.

Never in recent years have authors had to be more careful about what they wrote, stage improvisers more judicious about what they said or song, or illustrators more careful about what they illustrated. Even the toy vendors have had some sharp warnings concerning what is fit and proper to offer children.

Every day newspapers and influential citizens are raising their voices in protest against the wave of extremely questionable taste that swept over Europe during and after the war. Before the next tourist season, France is determined to clean house so that any visiting American cousin can walk along the boulevards, attend a music hall, or read a typical French periodical without blushing.

Stripped of Honor. The first big gun in the anti-smut campaign was fired by the legion of honor in taking membership away from Victor Marguerite, the noted novelist, because of the nature of his contents of his most recent best-seller, "La Garconne—The Bachelor Girl."

The legion of honor decided that an author, no matter how great his realistic talent, who puts such scenes and thoughts before the public was unworthy to wear the "cravate" of a commander in the famous organization.

Although there were many complaints against the decision of the legion, President Millerand, supreme commander, sanctioned it.

Leon Daudet, leader of the royalist party and son of Alphonse Daudet, the famous writer, saw the writing on the wall and withdrew from circulation one of his novels entitled "The Procureur."

According to French "wits," Daudet then proved the old French proverb—"None is more virtuous than the new convert"—by starting a purity campaign through the columns of his newspaper, "L'Action Francaise," Daudet is attacking the questionable works of other authors, even criticizing the output of Emile Zola, the deceased father of realism.

Managers of cabarets have been warned that they will be fined heavily if any of the actors become "off color" in their jokes.

BOSTONIAN IS NAMED TO HEAD EDUCATORS

Cleveland, Ohio, February 28.—(By The Associated Press.)—Payson Smith, of Boston, state commissioner of education in Massachusetts, was elected head of the department of superintendence, National Education association, at today's election, it was announced tonight. Smith, who was a compromise candidate, polled 283 votes.

M. G. Clark, superintendent of schools of Sioux City, Iowa, was elected vice president, and William McAndrew, assistant superintendent of schools of New York, was elected a member of the executive committee. John H. Beveridge, superintendent of schools of Omaha, retiring president, automatically became a vice president.

FOUR PRISONERS TAKEN AND LIQUOR IS SEIZED

Four prisoners were taken and 380 quarts of fine rye whiskey and a quantity of corn liquor were confiscated Wednesday morning by the county police and members of the East Point police department.

Those arrested are Joe L. Smith and Red Wiggins, of Birmingham; J. L. Johns, and a negro, Guy Bomer, whose addresses are not shown. The former two were occupants of the machine that contained the rye whiskey.

Johns and the negro, Bomer, were apprehended within a short distance of the Fulton county jail by County Policemen Wells, Hornsby and Lyle after a 15-mile chase, which began near East Point.

HARD TIMES COME TO BOOTLEGGERS

effective, and which, when dovetailed with this one, enable them to accurately determine the amount of income on which a number of liquor dealers should have made returns and paid taxes, it was stated.

As regarding the legality of taxing income derived from an illegal source, Mr. Rose declared that income is taxable, regardless of whether it is earned with the sweat of the brow or is acquired through illegal practices.

According to the law, Mr. Rose states, a man may be taxed on income derived from gambling, but he is not exempt from losses sustained in an illegal manner such as losses at gambling.

This point being out of the way, the problem of the collector is merely to collect data as to the income of the elusive bootlegger, and collect it in a manner that evidence acceptable to the courts may be sustained.

Interesting Stories. In the work of collecting this data, agents of the government have uncovered scores of interesting and highly potent stories as to the "romance" of business—this whiskey business—according to officials.

A great portion of those who will be indicted on these charges, Mr. Rose stated, are men who have "sky-rocketed" to wealth and affluence through the illegal practice of selling whiskey. Numerous instances are on record in the collector's office, it was stated, where a man who was in poverty only a few years ago is literally "rolling" in wealth now—and this applies to those who have gotten rich quick by bootlegging.

There are other examples of wealth being quickly made known to officials, but in no single line of business has there been such a large per cent of get-rich-quick operators as in the liquor game.

How To Pay Safely. Work of checking up on these men is being pushed steadily, and in answer to the question which the alarmed bootlegger might put, as to how to make out his return, the following hint is dropped, coming from the authorities, but without any official connection with the government: Questions.

In the event an honest bootlegger decides to save himself trouble and make out his return properly, how is he going to handle the point of "source of income?"

If he admits, under oath, that he has made $2,000 from profit on sale of liquor, can this admission be used against him in proceedings to convict for violation of the 18th amendment? Answers.

One man, thought to be a bootlegger, made out his return without admitting that the income was derived through the sale of liquor. He attributed his income to "sale of personal property."

This is legal. One doesn't have to itemize "personal property" disposed of—and it is pretty generally conceded that liquor is personal property—very personal, some would say.

Therefore, if a man derives his income from the sale of whiskey, he derives it from the sale of personal property—and he can avoid trouble with the internal revenue collector and the prohibition officer by merely admitting modestly that he has disposed of personal property—without going into too much detail.

A 7% Rate and the Reason For It

THERE are clean-cut, convincing reasons why it is possible for the most cautious investor to obtain up to 7% by investing in first mortgage bonds secured by income-earning buildings in the South. The South is constantly seeking outside capital in order to build more factories, open more mines, construct more good roads, and erect more business structures of all kinds. As is always the case when the demand for capital is keen, rates are correspondingly attractive.

Miller First Mortgage Bonds, secured by income-producing structures in Southern cities, have enabled investors all over the country to take advantage of the liberal Southern interest rate. These bonds have also demonstrated to investors how easy it is to combine a good rate with safety, for there has never been a dollar's loss connected with any investment in Miller Bonds. To give you a better picture of the South as an investment field, we will gladly send you our Semi-Annual Survey, containing official building and business statistics for 1922. This Survey was recently published by newspapers throughout the South. Mail the coupon today for a copy.

ROTARY IS SEEN AS WORLD FORCE

Porter Pierpont, District Governor, Addresses the Weekly Meeting of Macon Rotarians.

Macon, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Rotary as a world force, with 40,000 members in 27 countries, furnishing a practical organization for carrying out the Golden Rule, establishing personal contact with future Rotarians and citizens through its boys' work program, and offering a model for business codes of ethics the world over, was the vision of this organization presented to the local club at its weekly meeting at luncheon in Rotary hall today by District Governor Porter Pierpont, of Savannah. Mr. Pierpont presides over 38 clubs in Georgia and Florida. This was the occasion of his first visit to Macon since his election last spring. President Ellsworth Hall, of the Macon club, said in introducing the speaker, that he was the best administrative officer the district has had.

Discussing the Macon delegation to the district conference to be held in St. Petersburg, Fla., March 23 and 24, the governor advised the Central City club to send a large one, as the next conference is to be held in Georgia, and no city is better fitted to entertain it than Macon, in his opinion.

The invitations will be extended at the St. Petersburg meeting and will be passed upon next December.

In contrast to the worldwide influence of Rotary, the district executive recalled the "crude rough neck demonstrations" of the old days, consisting in part of pounding the table, throwing bread from table to table and having a policeman extract a bottle of rum from the hip pocket of the ministerial member.

Appropos of the present day problems of Rotary, he reminded his hearers that the wheel wearers do their civic work through agencies already established, and not as a distinct organization, and that the most important phase of boys work is not the donation of money, but the personal contacts established with Rotarians and citizens of the future.

Tifton Civic Bodies Aid in Arranging Farm Dairy Program

Tifton, Ga., February 28.—The various civic organizations of the city are co-operating in the effort to make the farm day program of the Georgia association, college of agriculture and bureau of markets, to be given here tomorrow, the greatest of the series.

The Coastal Plain experiment station and the Second District Agricultural and Mechanical school have been assured of the hearty co-operation of the Tifton Lions, Kiwanis and board of trade. The Lions have postponed their weekly luncheon until Thursday and will meet with the Kiwanis club and board of trade, aiding the school and experiment station in spreading a dinner free for those who attend the meeting.

The equipment of the school will be used in the demonstration.

SEE FAILURE OF TAX SECURITIES MEASURES

tails of the revenue laws for the purpose of stopping gaps that cost the government many millions. One of these gaps was described in the following language in his December report:

"The law taxes capital gains and recognizes capital losses, but the taxpayer retains the initiative and refrains from realizing taxable gains while taking deductible losses. The situation is particularly serious under the revenue act of 1921, which limits the tax on capital gains to 12 1/2 per cent, but puts no limit on the deduction of capital losses. This means that capital losses may entirely cancel real income, while capital gains will not be realized at all or, if realized, are taxed at only 12 1/2 per cent. Under the present system the government is being whipsawed."

Mr. Mellon proposed that the amount that could be deducted for capital losses be limited to 12 1/2 per cent, thus putting the allowance for losses on the same basis as the taxes on gains.

Bill Lies Dormant.

The house, after some delay, passed a bill designed to carry out Mr. Mellon's idea. That bill is now in the senate finance committee and it is reliably stated that it will stay there. Advocates of the measure in the house say that Senators McCumber, Sutherland and Smoot, the first two being "lame ducks," are responsible for the purpose to smother the bill.

Mr. Mellon had another important proposal to stop gaps used in evading the tax laws.

The revenue law of 1921 provides that property held for investment may be exchanged for like property without realization of increase in value, so far as taxes are concerned. That is, a man owning a $10,000 bond, increased in actual value to $11,000, may exchange the bond for another bond worth $1,000 plus $100 in cash, and not be taxed on the capital gain of $100.

Mr. Mellon urged that the law permit exchanges, without realization of taxable income, only in cases of reorganizations, mergers and consolidations.

The house passed a bill to put into effect Mr. Mellon's desire for reform in this feature of the present law, and he has a chance of getting something out of it—how much cannot be told at the time. When the bill reached the senate finance committee, Senator Overman, of North Carolina, offered an amendment permitting exchange of securities of the same corporation without taxable gain.

That, according to some of the experts, will lead to frequent manipulation of securities of profitable concerns and will go far toward nullifying the intent of the bill. The matter is to be threshed out tomorrow in conference. It is understood that Mr. Mellon loses in that matter, he will have lost all his important tax evasion recommendations.

CRUCIAL PERIOD IN SPECIAL OFFER

nomination blanks at once have untouched territory in which to operate.

Advice to Public.

So there you are in a nutshell. If you're a regularly listed club member pray for clear, sunshiny weather in which to push your campaign.

If you've been delaying on the matter of entering the special campaign and have not yet qualified as a club member, fill out the entry blank published in this issue—and get busy with your mind made up to win. Nothing counts so much as determination.

Now as to the special extra prize offer. The two prizes consist of a five-passenger Anderson six touring car valued at $1,250 delivered in Atlanta, and a five-passenger Gardner car valued at $1,075 delivered here. Both are of standard make and finish, cars which the most discriminating man or woman in the south would delight to own.

The club member turning in the greatest amount of money on subscriptions between February 19 and Saturday, March 10, will be awarded his or her choice of the two cars. The person turning in the next greatest amount of money on subscriptions will get the remaining car.

Votes Do Not Count.

Votes have nothing whatsoever to do with the race. Money alone will count. So new members need have no fear that old members will have the jump on them.

While the special extra campaign is in progress, competition for the original list of sixteen capital and district automobile awards and 24 cash prizes will go on without interruption. Regular and bonus votes at the rate of 75,000 extra votes for every $25 in subscriptions—and 3,000 extra votes for every dollar above the extra votes for every dollar above the $25 minimum—will be credited club members to count in deciding awards in the original prize list.

Chief emphasis Wednesday, however, was laid by authorities of the Help-Yourself club on the importance of immediate entry by new members.

Immediate Action Urged.

"Ten days of active campaigning remain before the special extra prize offer expires," it was declared. "These 10 days are the crucial period in the campaign. New members have ample time to come in and drive to success—but they must act promptly and without loss of a single day."

"Club members can now win two handsome auto prizes—one of the eight capital awards or one of the eight district awards and one of the special prizes. New and old should open a determination to win immediately with the determination to make the most of a golden opportunity and to win two big prizes."

For the benefit of prospective new members, all necessary details of the Help-Yourself campaign are published in an advertisement in this issue. Turn to it—study it—fill out and mail your entry blank—get busy—start now.

REVIVAL SERVICES Series of Meetings in Baxley Successful.

Baxley, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—More than 50 additions to the membership of the church, the conversion of a large number of young men, and the consequent opening of the Young Men's club rooms for a weekly union prayer meeting, featured the Allen-Goodall revival which has just closed a series of services at the Methodist church, lasting two weeks.

Rev. H. S. Allen, conference evangelist, and Miss Julia Goodall, both of Macon, assisted the pastor, Rev. T. E. Davenport in conducting the series of services. This is said by many local people to be the best revival ever held here.

R. W. LITTLE DIES AT LOUISVILLE HOME

Louisville, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—R. W. Little, aged 35, a prominent citizen of Louisville, died this morning at 8 o'clock. He had been sick only a few days with pneumonia, having been on the streets less than a week ago.

Mr. Little is the son of the late William Little, of this county, and a member of a well-known family. He was prominent in business circles with farming and other interest with which he was identified. He was a director of the First National Bank of Louisville, was a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge and a member of the Presbyterian Church of Louisville.

He is survived by his wife and little daughter, Marion; his mother, Mrs. William Little; one brother, R. D. Little, and three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Clark, Mrs. Julian Ramsey and Mrs. R. L. Farmer, all of Louisville. Funeral will take place Thursday at 11 o'clock from the Presbyterian Church of Louisville, conducted by the Rev. P. A. Pruessley, of Chester, South Carolina.

OPERA SEASON TICKET SALE BEGINS MONDAY

Long Line of Music-Lovers Will Be Waiting to Buy Tickets.

On Monday morning next, at the Cable Piano company, on North Broad street, sale of season tickets for the 1923 week of grand opera at the auditorium will open. At that time there will be a long line of opera lovers waiting to take their pick of the choice seats in the huge arena and it is confidently anticipated by officials of the Music Festival association that the advance sale this year will be greater than ever before. They base their belief entirely on the magnificent program which the Metropolitan has offered to Atlanta this year and a cursory perusal of the program undoubtedly carries out their idea.

Among the seven operas to be sung during the week of April 23 there are three new to Atlanta, "Romeo et Juliette," "Don Carlos," and "L'Africaine." Others on the program include such old favorites as "Bohème," "Lucia," "William Tell" and "Aida." There is the usual long list of Metropolitan stars to thrill by their art and to charm by their presence. In addition there are newcomers, such as Fodor Chaliapin, the greatest basso of the age, the most matchless actor on any stage, who came out of Russia last year to win unsurpassed laurels in New York.

Then there is Barbara Kemp, contralto, who has taken Europe by storm and who is singing this week in New York, for the first time in America.

Among the older favorites are such as Galli Curci, Ponselle, Bori, Didi, Martinelli, Scotti, Mardones, etc.

It surely reads like the greatest operatic treat ever offered to Atlanta, though memory does recall several of those supreme years of the past as apparently unsurpassable. Anyway, it is a promise that should mean a huge seat sale for several weeks.

It takes several weeks, you know for all the good seats in the auditorium to be assigned.

The season sale will continue for three weeks, then, with one week's interval, the single seat sale will open, to last in turn three weeks until the great week itself arrives upon the opening scroll of time.

Bachelors' Club Will Soon Boast Happy Benedicts

Washington's "Forty Forever" Thank Mayor Sims for Matrimonial Aid.

BY H. H. WIMPEE.

The benediction of 40 bachelors in the state of Washington rest upon the head of Mayor Walter A. Sims, stating that members were extremely desirous of obtaining "better halves," preferably of the Georgia peach type.

Tatum as Cupid's Agent.

The mayor in his usual genial way, paused in his perusal of methods to curtail municipal extravagances, and in turn enlisted the co-operation of local newspapers to aid him in his requested task. He promptly appointed J. Henson Tatum, his able secretary, to the important role of matrimonial agent and issued instructions that all matters relating to this phase of municipal activity be left entirely to the discretion of the latter.

The letter from the bachelors was published together with a statement from the mayor in which he invited correspondence from all lonely maidens of Georgia—provided there were any—and apparently there were, for about a half hundred replies were received by Secretary Tatum, exclusive of those sent directly to the bachelors' club members. The writer received a half dozen or more replies, all of which were dispatched to R. N. Huggins, who signed himself "spokesman for the club."

Just how well the role of Cupid was acted by Mayor Sims is revealed in the letter of Wednesday, which contained information from the applicants that "every one of the 40 has found himself a prospective bride."

BLACK AND WHITE TAXI PROMOTER HELD IN NEW YORK

J. Carlton Lee, promoter of the Black and White Taxi company, who was indicted several weeks ago on a charge of larceny after trust in connection with the sale of stock in the transportation enterprise, has been arrested in New York city and will be returned here at once for trial, according to telegraphic reports to Atlanta Wednesday.

It is probable that upon his arrival here he will be confronted with big charges, it was intimated. Without having secured a divorce from his first wife, it is alleged, Lee had married Mrs. N. B. McNeil, wealthy New Jersey society woman, several days ago.

Lee is said to have been located by representatives of L. P. Whitfield, local private detective, who was engaged by R. M. Savini, motion picture distributor, who was security on a $10,000 bond furnished by Lee for his release shortly after his indictment which was forfeited when Lee disappeared.

Several prominent Atlantans purchased stock in the taxi cab enterprise, according to complaints filed at the solicitor's office. Lee is charged with having deposited the proceeds from the sale of stock in a local bank and later withdrawing the larger part of the funds for his personal use.

ATLANTA LAWYER WAITS 3 YEARS FOR YOUNG BRIDE

Robert E. Church, Atlanta attorney, has returned to Atlanta with his bride, who before her marriage was Miss Norma Cowan, of Hamlet, N. C., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Cowan.

It was in the summer of 1919 that the romance began. Attorney Church made the acquaintance of Miss Cowan, and in 1920 the wedding was planned. When the attorney applied for the license he was informed that Miss Cowan, at that time under 18 years of age, was too young to be married under the North Carolina law without the consent of the parents.

Because she had not finished school, it is said, her parents had not given permission, and Attorney Church patiently hid his time while the girl remained in school. She was to have graduated next June, but meanwhile she became old enough to marry without the parental consent. Learning of her intentions, the parents gave the consent and the bride and groom are now in Atlanta.

Gives you an appetite.

NEW APARTMENTS ON PONCE DE LEON TO COST $500,000

Further details of plans for the handsome seven-story apartment building to be erected on the southwest corner of Ponce de Leon avenue and Juniper street, showing that the structure will cost approximately half a million dollars and will be one of the most beautiful in the city, were announced Wednesday by the Lane and Watkins agency.

The site recently was acquired by C. W. Lane from D. J. Griffin for $80,000. It has a frontage of 135 feet on Ponce de Leon avenue and extends back 195 feet along Juniper street.

Fifteen stores and a large dining room will occupy the ground floor. The upper floors will comprise apartments averaging two or three rooms each. Several ideal bachelor apartments will be provided.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL TRUSTEES ARE NAMED

Governor Hardwick Wednesday appointed nine new trustees for the Tenth District Agricultural school at Granite Hill, as well as one trustee for the Seventh District school at Powder Springs. Barry Wright, prominent attorney of Rome, was named to the latter place, while the following were chosen for the Granite Hill school:

W. C. Clay, Harlem; Herbert A. Williamson, Gibson; R. S. Farmer, Louisville; Marvin G. Pound, Sparta; Dr. W. H. Estes, Lincolnton; John T. West, Thomson; Joe Henry G. Hammond, Augusta; Thomas J. Davis, Tennesse; and Miss Marian Colley, Washington.

CUNO PREDICTS GERMAN REBELLION

Industrial area after having sent soldiers to Europe to fight to make the world safe for democracy.

Officials believe that the next congress will be more kindly disposed toward intervention than the one which is now closing.

The speech of Deputy Stresemann at Dornum Wednesday is typical of the thought that is running through the German official mind.

Stresemann declared that it would have been far better for Germany to have plugged her ears with wax than have signed the Versailles treaty. The treaty was signed, he said, as the result of the "siren song" of Woodrow Wilson and Robert Lansing.

"The powers which signed the treaty of Versailles and caused us to stack our arms are morally responsible for present conditions in Germany," the deputy declared.

"We don't have to beg and plead for intervention—we demand it, if what happened at the end of the war meant anything."

RE-ELECT WINBURN AS TERMINAL HEAD

Macon, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—W. A. Winburn, president of the Central of Georgia railway, was today re-elected president of the Macon Terminal company. All other officers of the Terminal company were also re-elected. No changes in the policy of the company were announced.

The officers arrived in Macon at four o'clock this morning from Atlanta and left immediately after the meeting.

ATLANTA BUSINESS MEN ARE PLANNING FOR TRIP TO CUBA

Secretary B. S. Barker, of the chamber of commerce, in conjunction with District Manager B. C. Gettings of the bureau of foreign trade and domestic commerce, is perfecting plans for a business men's trip to Cuba.

Directors of the chamber at a meeting held Wednesday afternoon failed to reach any definite conclusion, due to transportation unexpected matters, but it was decided to consider plans for the trip at the earliest possible hour.

Chamber officials announced that a trip of this nature will stimulate trade relations between Cuban merchants and the manufacturing and selling agencies of Atlanta.

Richmond, Va., business men are about to embark upon a like trip. It was announced, and Jacksonville merchants have made several trips.

Tentative estimates contemplate a trip of about eight days' duration with short stops en route at Jacksonville, St. Augustine, West Palm Beach and Miami. Attractive entertainments have already been offered by these cities during the stop-overs.

April 1 to 8 has been suggested as suitable dates for the trip.

MOTHER OF YOUTH HIT BY TEACHER SUES FOR $25,000

On the ground that she has been deprived of the services of her son, Mrs. Kate Ragsdale, mother of Hoke Ragsdale, the Forrest Park school pupil who filed suit for $50,000 damages Tuesday against Professor J. D. Smith, principal, Wednesday asked an additional $25,000 in damages from the instructor.

The suits charge Professor Smith with having struck the youth with such force that his sense of hearing in one ear was completely destroyed.

Mrs. Ragsdale and her son are represented by Attorneys Coburn, Wilson and Carmain.

POLICE SURPRISE BURGLAR BATHING WITH STOLEN SOAP

When officers investigating the robbery of Shumate's store at 725 South Boulevard went to the home of Kid Thomas, colored, at 30-A Taylor street, in search of stolen merchandise, they found Thomas enjoying his week-end ablutions with a cake of soap which was part of the loot. Captain T. O. Sturdivant testified in Fulton superior court Wednesday.

Thomas and his two companions, Joe Taylor and Larry Miller, were found guilty of having burglarized the store of various articles, including tires, tubes, toilet goods and other articles, and were given a sentence of from 15 to 20 years, which is one of the heaviest burglary sentences imposed here in years. The robbery is said to have occurred on February 16.

MAIL CARRIER DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Savannah, Ga., February 28.—M. M. Lanier, a rural mail carrier, was killed today near Milledgeville, 35 miles from Savannah, when the mail truck he was driving, went off the road and overturned. Lanier was pinned beneath the car and his head held under water in a roadside ditch. He was either drowned or died of injuries.

Floyd Atkins, who was riding with him, was not seriously hurt. Atkins was to succeed Lanier as driver tomorrow and was being carried along today to learn the route.

The languages spoken by the native inhabitants of the Philippine islands, are variously reckoned, some authors distinguishing as many as fifty, others twenty or less, a difference due to the variant definitions of "language" and "dialect." But all these languages or dialects belong to one or other of two classes, those of the Malay race and those of the aboriginal inhabitants, the Aetas or Negritos.

NOMINATIONS FLOOD SENATE ON WEDNESDAY

President Harding Has Almost Completed Filling of Important Places.

Washington, February 28.—The nomination of D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the currency, to be governor of the federal reserve board, was reported favorably today by the senate banking committee, but action was deferred on the nomination of James G. McNary, southwestern banker, to succeed Mr. Crissinger as comptroller.

Horace M. Towner, of Iowa, for years a republican leader in the house of representatives, was nominated today to succeed P. Mont Riley as governor of Porto Rico.

Davis Nominated.
Dwight Davis, of Missouri, a director of the War Finance corporation, was nominated to be assistant secretary of war in the place of J. Mayhew Wainwright, who leaves office March 4 to become a member of the next congress.

At the same time the president named Frank W. Mondell, republican floor leader of the present house, to succeed Mr. Davis as director of the War Finance corporation.

Judges Selected.
The following were nominated to be United States district judges: John W. Gore, for the middle district of Tennessee, and Xenophon Hicks for the eastern and middle districts of Tennessee.

By the list of nominations sent to the senate today, together with those of yesterday, the president about completed the filling of important places in the administration due to the shifts which have occurred around the midway mark of his administration on March 4.

Mr. Towner, named as governor of Porto Rico, does not take that position, however, until April 1, the effective date of the resignation of Governor Riley. The Iowa representative has been chairman of the insular committee of the house for several years and in that position has given close study to conditions in Porto Rico. Delegate Davila, of Porto Rico, who conducted a long fight against former Governor Riley, declared today that no man "could have been selected who would have been better pleased the people of Porto Rico."

Has Long Service.
Representative Mondell has had a quarter of a century of service in congress and has been the republican floor leader since the beginning of the special session of the 68th congress. He did not offer for re-election to the house, seeking instead the seat in the senate, for which Senator Kendrick Wyoming, defeated him last November. His friends had urged Mr. Mondell for secretary of the interior and many members of congress had recommended him to the president.

Mr. Davis, who becomes assistant secretary of war, has been a director of the War Finance corporation since 1921. He is a banker, served during the war as a lieutenant colonel in the Missouri national guard and in 1918 was elected commander of the American legion. He is a former member of the board of overseers of Harvard university, has been identified with many athletic and recreational organizations and is widely known as the donor of the Davis tennis cup.

Native of Tennessee.
John J. Gore, nominated today to be U. S. district judge for middle Tennessee, is a native of Smith county, Tennessee, where he was born in 1870. He has been a prominent figure in politics, and was chairman of the state committee of his party in 1920, when Tennessee entered the republican column. He has served in the state senate, and is regarded as a man of force. He received his legal education at Cumberland Law school at Lebanon, and at one time was partner in the practice of law with Cordell Hull, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Mrs. Huck Charges She Lost to Hull By "Newberryism"

Will Prefer Charges Against Chicago Millionaire on Return to Capital.

Chicago, February 28.—Morton D. Hull, the Chicago millionaire, who defeated Mrs. Winnifred Mason Huck for the republican nomination for the congressional vacancy left by the late James H. Mann, discovered Wednesday that Mrs. Huck had only begun to fight.

Charging that she was defeated by "Newberryism," the Illinois congresswoman has promised to prefer charges against Hull as soon as she returns to Washington. Her victorious adversary, she claims, spent far more than $5,000 allowed him for campaign expenses by the law.

Supposed Klan Candidates Get Names on Ticket

Poll Large Vote for Commissioner in St. Louis—Election in April.

East St. Louis, Ill., February 28. Interest in the local political situation today turned to the municipal election to be held in April following the primary yesterday in which three candidates alleged to have been supported by the Ku Klux Klan were nominated as city commissioners, and two others supposed klan candidates were defeated.

The Rev. William R. Evans, Ralph Cook and August M. Eggmann, are the three victorious candidates who were said to have been endorsed by the klan. They polled three of the four largest votes for commissioner.

The defeated candidates, who were declared to have been included in the alleged "slate" of five put up by the klan, were M. L. Harris, for mayor and S. P. Porter for commissioner. Widespread interest was focused on the result of the primary during which three men were arrested on charges of distributing anonymous political circulars, which urged the defeat of 18 candidates, said to be Catholics or said to have been supported by Catholic organizations.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch printed an article stating that the alleged klan "slate" had pledged itself if elected, to appoint Protestants and Klansmen to public office here.

All members of the "slate" with the exception of the Rev. Evans, denied they had solicited the klan endorsement. A mayor and four commissioners will be chosen in the April election.

SHIPPING BILL DIES IN SENATE

day. Agreement was reached for a vote late tomorrow on the measure which has passed the house. The shipping bill, between the time it was presented to congress a year ago and its death today passed through the following stages:

Senate commerce and the house merchant marine committee, in joint automobile prizes recently, cold weather, rain and slush have formed an effective combination and have halted operations of campaigners for the two beautiful extra awards.

The mercury has been skidding up and down the little glass tube for two weeks, and whenever the temperature came somewhere in the limits of reason, rain too, occasion to fall in torrents and dampen the ardor of the most enthusiastic auto-seeker.

The result is a clear, open field for new and old candidates alike, and the coming 10 days of March will prove the deciding factor in the race for the two special auto prizes. What little advantage in the way of subscriptions has been gained by old members despite the cold and rain is more than offset by the fact that new members who rush in their season beginning last April 4 and continued until May 19. In amended form it was reported to the house June 14, but President Harding consented to postponement of action on it at that session. The executive called congress in special session November 20 to consider the measure and on November 21 delivered another message in its support. It was passed by the house November 29 by a vote of 208 to 184.

It was referred to the senate commerce committee December 4, the day congress met in regular session and five days later was reported to the senate with some amendments. It was made the unfinished business of the senate December 11 and until today had occupied that privileged position most of the time. The president, in the meantime, renewed his appeal for its enactment in the course of a message delivered February 7, but opponents began an active filibuster February 10, which after running through day and night sessions four days, resulted in proposals giving up the fight late Friday.

Rail Employees Get Overtime By Board Ruling

Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees Benefit by Decision.

Chicago, February 28.—The eight-hour day with time and one-half for overtime after the eighth hour was granted another class of railroad employees today by the railroad labor board in its decision on the dispute between the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees, and a number of carriers.

The rule providing for one day off each week also was granted, both provisions being effective March 1, as was an increase of 2 cents an hour in the rate of pay of freight employees and station laborers. Other requests for increases in pay were refused.

The eight-hour day ruling is similar to that recently granted signal men. Station clerks, freight handlers and express employees under the former ruling were given pro rata pay for the ninth hour and time and one-half after the ninth hour.

The board said it recognizes the justice of the principle that every employee is entitled to one day off duty in the seven. The decision states that day should be Sunday but necessary work may be done on Sunday without the payment of punitive overtime, by the carriers assigned to some other day of rest to those engaged in such indispensable Sunday work.

Approximately 65,000 employees are affected to the extent of about $3,000,000 annually by the increases in pay. Only under the most exceptional circumstances would it be necessary or advisable to revise the wage rates of a class of employees before the lapse of one year since such revision had occurred, the decision states, in connection with the refusal to grant the other requests for increases in pay.

Involved in the new rules of overtime and Sunday work are about 320,000 employees, many among these being of the Brotherhood of Railway Station employees.

CLEAR WRECKAGE OF "DIXIE FLYER"

Report of Missing Girl Buried Under Wreckage Is Disproved—Suitcase Unidentified.

Calhoun, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Wrecking crews are still working day and night in an effort to clear up all of the wreckage of the "Dixie Flyer" which left the track about a mile south of here at 1:20 o'clock Monday afternoon, killing two men and injuring fifteen passengers. The track has been cleared, and a temporary track laid. Seven of the coaches have been righted and are on the side track here. Wreckers are going about the work of repairing the remaining two coaches and getting them back on the track as rapidly as possible. They expect to have this completed by tomorrow noon.

All the regular traffic on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad is passing here now, but at greatly reduced speed and on slower schedules.

Reports have been current here since the wreck that a little seven-year old girl is missing and her body buried under the wreckage of one of the coaches was discovered today when wreckers completed the work of digging under and righting all of the coaches, and when it was established definitely that all of the passengers had been accounted for.

The suitcase which was found near the scene of the wreck, and which gave rise to the report of the disappearance of the little girl, has been identified as the property of Hugo Greenwald, of Chicago, a passenger who was slightly injured in the wreck.

Of the five more seriously injured passengers, only one, Will R. Harding, Jr., of Murfreesboro, Tenn., is unable to be moved. He is being attended at the Calhoun hotel, where doctors say it will be several days before he can leave.

J. Read Abraham, of Forsyth, Ga.,

was able to leave this morning for his home, A. A. Thorman, of Blairtown, Iowa, and J. B. Haubach, of LaHogue, Ill., were carried this afternoon to a hospital in Chattanooga. All of the others, only slightly injured, had been carried Monday night to Chattanooga on board one of the relief trains.

FREIGHT IS WRECKED ON CENTRAL OF GEORGIA.
Macon, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Five freight cars were derailed today at Mizell, fifty-five miles from Macon, on the southwestern division of the Central of Georgia railway. No one was injured, but there was some damage to equipment. The cause of the derailment is said to have been a broken arch bar on one of the cars.

Wife of Former Pugilist "Champ" Beggins Jail Term

New Orleans, February 28.—Mrs. Grace Gordon, who says she is the wife of a former world's champion welterweight pugilist, was in jail here today voluntarily, declaring she would ask the federal court to send her to the federal prison in Atlanta in order she might be cured of the narcotic habit. Her husband, she said, now is one of the most widely known boxing referees in the country and referred the Downey-Wilson fight last year which caused such a commotion in the pugilistic world.

Mrs. Gordon, who is in her early thirties, has been stopping at a hotel here. Yesterday I was respected as a member of the tourist colony," she said, "today I'm in prison cell of my own accord. I surrendered and I'm my own accuser."

She said she had given funds to three different persons within the last few days with which to purchase narcotics for her and that in each instance they had made away with the money. "Money has been none too plentiful with me lately and when I was duped three times in three days I checked out at the hotel and checked in at the police station."

Mrs. Gordon said her mother and father resided at West Mansfield, Ohio.

Harvey Denies U.S. Played "Shylock" In Debt Question

Declares Settlement Will Go Far in Promoting Better Anglo-American Relations.

POPULAR IN ENGLAND.
London, February 28.—Colonel George Harvey, American ambassador to the Court of St. James, believes he has a higher standing in England than America.

In concluding a speech on the settlement of the Anglo-American debt before the Pilgrims' club Wednesday night, Harvey declared: "My remarks will not be given too much importance on this side of the water but I'm rather more popular here than at home."

BY RALPH H. TURNER.

London, February 28.—The United States, in asking Great Britain to pay her debts, was not playing the role of Shylock demanding the pound of flesh, according to Ambassador George Harvey.

Harvey in an address at a Pilgrims' club dinner given Wednesday night in honor of Sir Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, pointed out that the United States was forced to borrow the money she lent to the allies during the war.

Sees Better Relations.
After stating that the settlement of the debt would go far in promoting better Anglo-American relations, the ambassador recalled that a large part of the loan to Britain was used in buying food and clothes.

Harvey stated that 90 per cent of the subscribers to the Liberty loans were British descendants who would not have loaned the money if, as since charged, it was used merely to benefit other allies. "We certainly thought we were helping Britain," he said.

The ambassador denied that the United States had dunned Britain, saying that America issued an invitation to fund the debt because the three-year period, in which it had been agreed that there would be no demand for remittance, had expired. All allies were notified simultaneously, he stated.

"Talked Business."

"One or two delegations appeared in the United States and talked about the weather," Harvey declared, "Great Britain arrived and talked business."

In recalling the charge made in the famous Balfour note that Britain had not benefitted from the loan of the United States, Harvey remarked, "I have no doubt but at some suitable time, and with equal formality and explicitness, the misapprehension that this unfortunate illusion created will be removed."

"The United States," he continued, "has not the slightest intention of ruining the credit of any other country by cancelling its debts."

In conclusion, Harvey stated that Great Britain had "done nobly" in settling the debt.

Praises S. Body.
Baldwin, who headed the British debt funding mission to Washington, said that he "could not have dealt with more competent, fairer or square men than the American debt funding commission."

"We stand for sanctity of contracts," he declared, "the same as America, which was proved when we fairly met the American representatives and fairly settled the obligation."

"Understanding is the Anglo-American need. It would be well if the statesmen and budding statesmen on both sides would learn something of each other. It is unfair to say that Europe is militaristic, the same as it is unfair to say that America is selfishly isolated. Anglo-American ideals are similar, which is essential to understanding between the two nations."

"World Needs Peace."
"The world needs peace and economic stability. Without these nothing is before us except ultimate bankruptcy and starvation. If English-speaking peoples unite in determination, their ideals will prevail and they will triumph."

Baldwin declared that the similarity in tongues of Britain and America engendered misunderstandings as no attempt has been made to properly interpret slight differences in the languages. This has caused, he said, transatlantic misquotations in which words were changed from their proper to a "gutter" meaning. Baldwin apparently referred to the report that he had stated, upon arriving at Southampton from New York, that congress was composed of a "bunch of farmers."

Divorced Wife Of Secretary Mellon to Wed

Marriage License Issued to Harvey Arthur Leen, New York Art Dealer.

New York, February 28.—A marriage license was issued today to Harvey Arthur Leen, 30, a New York art dealer, and Mrs. Nora Mary McMullen Mellon, 44, divorced wife of Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, secretary of the treasury.

Mrs. Mellon could not be reached at her apartment, 340 Park avenue, but servants said they had been informed the marriage would not take place until after this week.

The Mellon divorce proceedings became an international question, following their separation in 1909, and was brought before parliament in England on several occasions. Mr. Mellon obtained a divorce in Pittsburgh in 1912. They were married in 1900.

FLAMES INTERRUPT EMPIRE DEATH WATCH

Empire, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—During a death watch over the body of Judge Hiram Allen at the family home here last night flames damaged the roof, threatening for a time to destroy the house. The fire is thought to have been caused by sparks from the chimney.

Allen Spragens, a member of the party of watchers, in attempting to reach the roof to extinguish the flames, fell from the belfry he was attempting to climb when the post broke. The bell was damaged, but Spragens escaped injury. The flames soon were extinguished, only burning a small hole in the roof near the chimneys.

GENERAL ELECTRIC PRESIDENT HONORED

Gerard Swope Is Honor
Guest at Luncheon and at Dinner at Night.

Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, was honored at a dinner at the Capital City club Wednesday night, attended by a score of Atlanta's business, financial and industrial leaders. The dinner was arranged by E. H. Ginn, district manager of the company, who acted as toastmaster.

Those invited to meet the distinguished visitor included Hutton Rogers, J. J. Haverly, W. W. Banks, W. H. Taylor, Ernest Woodruff, L. L. Shivers, Judge Arthur G. Powell, J. M. Clayton, T. C. Erwin, F. L. Butler, T. K. Glenn, Charles P. Ryan, Jackson P. Dick and George Harris.

Among the officials of the General Electric company who attended, in addition to Mr. Ginn, were S. W. Moore, district supply manager, and R. T. Brooke, manager of the Birmingham office.

Mr. Swope was the guest at a luncheon Wednesday noon given in his honor by the department heads and local officials of the Citizens and Southern Bank. The luncheon was held in the dining room of the bank and was an informal affair. Twelve officials of the bank and Mr. Swope attended. No speeches were made.

Mr. Swope has been president of the General Electric company for four years. During the war he was stationed in Washington in an advisory capacity.

His first connection with the company was in 1903 in its manufacturing plant. He worked as an electrical engineer and familiarized himself with every phase of electrical engineering. He is a graduate of Boston Tech.

THEFT CHARGES AGAINST YOUTH ARE DISMISSED

Robert Copeland, of 55 Houston street, who, with two other young boys, was arrested Friday night on the charge of attempting to steal a car parked on the corner of Harris and Spring streets, was released in reorders' court Tuesday when it was shown that he could not drive a car. Noble Boyles, one of the boys arrested, is still being held at the police station.

Haunting Indian Melodies Please Lovers of Music

Atlantans Are Given Surprise by Great Range Offered by Folk Songs.

Several hundred Atlanta people today possess a higher estimate of the race that populated the American wilderness before the white man came. Several hundred, nearly as many as the cozy auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club will hold, Wednesday afternoon heard with pleased surprise a two hour recital of Indian melodies and legends and haunting harmonies based on them by Thurlow Llewellyn, famous American composer-pianist.

Mr. Llewellyn himself explained the motifs of his songs and enlarged upon the unsounded depths of music material the Indian folk-songs offer. Mrs. Llewellyn, a soprano of considerable dramatic ability, sang many of his best known compositions. George B. Taek played flute obligato and Mr. Llewellyn piano accompaniment for the singer.

One song in particular, "In Mirrored Waters," sung in the native accents of the Sioux Indian, seemed best to illustrate the music of the original American and the art of the three people who are interpreting it as the conquering race who has disposed him. The soft vowels of the Sioux dialect offer better opportunity for beautiful vocalization than any Latin tongue.

The audience seemed best pleased by Mrs. Llewellyn's singing of "The Waters of Minnetonka," the composition for which her husband is best known. Several encores were demanded.

A demonstration of Indian flutes was an interesting part of the program. Mr. Taek played a dozen instruments made by the various nations of red men. The original Indian flute is made with a scale of six full notes, similar to the Chinese scale. Mr. Llewellyn explained.

The recital was one of the "series intimes" of the Atlanta Music club, a series of which is bringing to Atlanta the best parlor music available on the American continent.

Weevil May Prove South's Benefactor, Declares Hollomon

Necessity of Crop Diversification Shown at Masonic Club Meeting.

"I am not sure that the boll weevil has not been a benefactor to the south as a whole, rather than a bane," James A. Hollomon, of The Constitution declared in an address Wednesday at the Masonic club luncheon, "as no country or section has ever flourished on a single crop. Slavery basis and the farmers have been made to realize the value of crop diversification, which is proving profitable through the aid of co-operative marketing associations."

Discussing recent speeches by noted scientists on the weevil problem, particularly that of proposed extermination of the weevil by the use of the x-ray and by means of "sex control," he said:

"Plant as early as safe, using the best of seed; cultivate intensely on small acreage, making cotton a surplus instead of a primary crop; use plenty of fertilizer and poison in one form or another when necessary under expert advice, plant all surplus acreage with food products, raise hogs, chickens, and live at home. Then the boll weevil problem for the southern farm is solved."

"The finding of markets is the real solution of the farmers' problems and we have got to extend our hand across the seas to keep the European house in order so that their markets may be opened for the products raised in this country."

"It is a practical problem, not a theoretical one," he declared, adding that the farmer had been fed-up on science and propaganda.

The musical program was rendered by Paul Crutchfield, vocal soloist, and Miss Helen Schaid, pianist. Piedmont lodge would have charge of the Wednesday meeting next Wednesday.

MRS. RICHARDSON DIES Funeral Services Will Be Held This Afternoon.

Mrs. A. R. Richardson died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. N. Johnson, 125 Superior street, Wednesday afternoon. She is also survived by another daughter, Mrs. W. B. Johnson, Glenview, Ill.; sister, Mrs. J. M. Cochran, Georgetown, Ohio; brother, J. M. Dugan, Minneapolis, Minn.

Funeral services will be held at the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son at 2:30 this afternoon. Body will be taken to Cincinnati, Ohio.

SIDNEY J. HEARD DIES AT ATLANTA HOSPITAL

Sidney J. Heard, aged 59, well known in railroad circles, died Wednesday in a local hospital after an illness of several weeks. He was for a number of years chief clerk in the local office of the Western & Atlantic railroad with offices in the Austell building.

He is survived by two brothers, Dr. J. G. Heard, Sr., of Atlanta, and Mack Heard, of Birmingham, and a sister, Mrs. Charles A. Patterson, of Tallahassee, Ala. The body is at Awtry & Lowndes Co., funeral directors.

Little Machine Weighs And Counts Hay Bales

(From Popular Mechanics Magazine.) After a day's work in baling hay, the owner of a hay press need only look at the recorder of a new automatic weighing and counting machine, to know how many bales his machine has turned out and their weight. As the bales come out of the press, they fall upon the device, weigh and count themselves.

Friends of Harding Work For His Re-Nomination

Early Campaign for President Will Soon Be Felt in Many States, Is the Belief.

Washington, February 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Convinced that a half-dozen aspirants already are making cautious overtures to test their strength as republican presidential possibilities for 1934, some of the friends of President Harding have begun work to assure him a re-nomination.

Thus far the movement on behalf of the president has not reached the proportions of a closely knit organization, but it has progressed to the point where it promises to make itself felt in many states before the coming summer is well begun.

The attitude of Mr. Harding himself toward a second term remains unannounced, and it is considered probable that he will make any public statement of his intentions, at least in the near future. There is quite general agreement among those in the inner circle of Washington on the issue of re-nomination, that a desire for public endorsement of his stewardship will impel him to stand for re-election.

It is upon this presumption, at any rate, that those who want to see him remain in the white house for another four years, are proceeding.

Included in the group of friends who have been in conference here are some of the men who led the successful re-nomination campaign in 1920, and some who came over to the Harding ranks from other camps after the convention was over. As a result, the ultimate line-up of the Harding forces in 1924 is expected to resemble only in part the organization that fought and triumphed in the nomination fight of three years ago.

Daugherty to Help.

Attorney-General Daugherty, who was the pre-convention manager for Mr. Harding in 1920, is expected to again take a hand in urging a re-nomination. But for several reasons Mr. Daugherty is not expected by his friends to be as active as he was in 1920. His health recently failed him, requiring him to remain in bed for several weeks, and although he has virtually recovered, he cannot take the burden of travel and conference which would fall upon an active campaign manager.

In addition, his official duties in the department of justice are expected to preclude him from being long absent from Washington during the campaign.

Several men who have long been prominent in party affairs have been mentioned as available for the more strenuous work of organization.

Charles D. Hiles, a former national chairman, is one of those so considered, but he has made no statement thus far as to what part he would be willing to take in the pre-convention work. Recently Mr. Hiles conferred with the president and together they visited Mr. Daugherty in his sick room.

Suggest Adams.

In the background of these considerations lies also the question of who is to manage the republican campaign after the nomination has been made. The supporters of John T. Adams, the present national chairman, say they expect him to retain that post regardless of the result of the nominating convention.

Discussions of the subject here recently have brought to light, however, an attempt by the friends of Will H. Hays, who managed the 1920 campaign, to re-instate him in the chairmanship.

The exact strength of the Hays boom is yet to be demonstrated, but it is receiving serious notice among the coterie of Harding supporters who are laying the groundwork of his re-nomination.

It is realized that if Mr. Harding is nominated, it will be for him to say whether he desires to continue the service of the man who was at the helm when the party rolled up its record-breaking majority of 1920.

All of these subjects seem likely to be thrashed out very soon after Mr. Harding concludes the month's vacation in Florida for which he will leave Washington early next week.

Attorney-General Daugherty, in whom the president recently has expressed anew his complete confidence, will be one of the guests on the Florida houseboat trip, and after it is concluded it is possible that Mr. Harding will at least a part of the party will proceed to Ohio to spend a few days on home soil. There he will have an opportunity to see republican state leaders and examine the republican organization of his home state, which in November elected a democratic governor.

It is taken for granted that a solid Ohio delegation would be the first requisite of the presidential line-up which would insure a re-nomination.

Will Make Tour.

Later in the summer, Mr. Harding's friends are predicting, the president will take a speech-making trip that will carry him to the Pacific coast and will include about twenty addresses. During this trip he will have the opportunity for which he frequently has expressed a desire recently, to "get better acquainted" with the people whose chosen spokesman he is. It is not intended to give the tour the color of a swing around the political circle, but when he faces his audiences he is expected to give an accounting of his acts in the past, and outline his policies for the future.

As a result of various contributing causes, it is the belief of political observers that the campaign so far as the republicans are concerned, at least, will be in full swing almost a year before the nominating convention. Not the least of these causes is the fact that seventeen states now have direct primary laws in which the battle for delegates to the national convention is won or lost long before the season heretofore set aside for state conventions.

In all their calculations, the primary system has been well to the fore in the minds of those who want the re-nomination movement to develop smoothly. It is realized that should the first states to hold primaries fail to endorse Mr. Harding decisively the reaction over the remainder of the year might prove a very great handicap in the months that followed.

According to information reaching the president's friends, some of those who may be expected to shy their hats into the ring are distinctly of the favorite son class of candidate, but even in their case the Harding adherents believe there should be a well-established policy, and that their candidate should either stay out of favorite son states entirely, or else go in determined to make a creditable showing.

The American Legion plans to make a study of school textbooks for any alleged un-American statements.

PRESBYTERIANS PLAN $4,750,000 DRIVE

Drive for Funds Will Start
March 18—Atlanta's
Quota $162,682.

Final plans for launching a Presbyterian progressive campaign on March 18 by southern Presbyterian churches to raise $4,750,000 for the benevolent work of the church, are being made and all churches are now organized with the object of making the canvass on March 18, it was announced Wednesday.

The Presbytery of Atlanta, which is one of the largest in the assembly, will hold a banquet a few days prior to the launching of the campaign at the Chamber of Commerce cafe.

Dr. Egbert Smith, of Nashville, secretary of the foreign mission work, will make the principal address. Rev. W. Huck, secretary of the stewardship of the Presbytery, also will attend the banquet.

Sections of the south have been assigned certain amounts to raise during the campaign. The quota for Georgia is $363,411, while Atlanta's quota is $162,682.

TEXAS VETERAN ASKS COMRADES TO WRITE

A. B. Strozier, 73-year-old Confederate veteran, of Willis, Texas, in a letter to The Constitution, states that he is very anxious to communicate with some of his old comrades of the Confederacy, and not knowing where any of the old soldiers are located he has requested that this article be published. His letter follows:

To the Dear Old Comrades of the Confederacy:
Many weary years have come and gone and many new graves and vacancies have been created since the last reunion of our beloved veterans. God be with us until we meet again. How many of the Georgia ends are left that were called to join the Georgia militia during the last year of the war to defend Atlanta? I have often wondered where my old comrades were and have spent many an hour in wishing that I might hear from them.

I served in the company of a Captain Matthews and would be exceedingly gratified if some old member of that company would respond to this letter. (Signed) A. B. STROZIER, Box 74, Willis, Texas.

REPUBLIC

STAG

At last—

a solid-pneumatic, non-skid truck tire that fits any wheel

It's accomplished. It's an actual reality. After years of study, after the expenditure of thousands of dollars in experimentation, a truck tire has been developed that brings to operators the wear of a solid tire, the easy riding qualities of a pneumatic, and the traction and non-skid protection of the world's first scientifically correct non-skid tread. This new tire is the Republic Stag—the "all-in-one" tire—a giant of perfection.

THREE BIG FEATURES

1. The air chamber of the Republic Stag Truck Tire gives it the resiliency of a pneumatic tire. Prodom Processed rubber gives it the durability that has made Republic Solid Tires dollar savers for years.

2. The Republic Stag is equipped with the famous Staggard Tread, insuring high efficiency traction under all conditions—the best insurance you can buy against road accidents and delays.

3. The Republic Stag has a steel base in full contact with the rim at every point. The air chamber is sealed by an endless steel ring expanded into this base.

Republic Stags meet satisfactorily the individual requirements of truck operators. They are easily pressed on and outwear all other types of truck tires. Careful, practical and severe tests have proved them the "lowest-cost-per-mile" tires produced.

Stags are a valuable addition to the Republic Truck Tire line which includes the Regular for average hauling conditions, the Hy-Top used where extra mileage and resiliency are required and the Pneumatic Cord where speed is essential. They all keep trucks moving.

Find out more about these wonderful tires. A descriptive circular will be sent upon request. Write the nearest branch today.

LOCAL TIRE DEALERS PLAN ORGANIZATION

Committee Is Appointed to Draft Rules and to Nominate Officers.

Retail tire dealers of Atlanta formed a tentative organization Wednesday afternoon at the Capital City club for the purpose of correcting evils said to be prevalent in the trade, and for fostering interests common to all.

Representatives of a number of concerns were present at the meeting. Edward S. Gay, J. L. Carroll and Sam Levy were appointed as a committee to arrange for another meeting in the near future, at which time the organization will be completed, officers elected and constitution and by-laws adopted.

The committee has been charged with the responsibility of drafting the rules of the association, nominating officers and other important details to be submitted to the body at the next meeting. According to Sam Levy, a member of the committee, and partner of the Prior Tire company, all retail tire dealers are urged to become affiliated with the organization at once, and to have a representative at the next meeting.

O. D. Riddle Joins Advertising Staff Of The Constitution

O. D. Riddle, widely known former Atlanta advertising man, has joined the advertising staff of The Constitution and is shaking hands with his many old friends in the city, according to announcement by the management Wednesday.

O. D. RIDDLE.

Mr. Riddle for five years was connected with the advertising department of The Atlanta Journal, leaving about a year ago to become advertising manager of The Winston-Salem, N. C. Journal.

He is known to virtually every business man and commercial concern in Atlanta, and has a wealth of friends in Atlanta who are welcoming him back to his old standing grounds. Mr. Riddle is thoroughly experienced in all lines of advertising and is known as one of the most efficient and capable men in his line in the south.

He and his family are temporarily located at 38 Adair avenue, and later will move into a permanent home here.

Litigation to Be Dropped.

Suit for divorce recently filed by Mrs. Marian Burke Chamberlain, 17-year-old bride of 18-year-old Donald Chamberlain, will be withdrawn, it was disclosed Wednesday when attorneys for the young couple declared that they are happily reconciled and will take up housekeeping shortly.

Three days after the ceremony on January 28, Mrs. Chamberlain sought a divorce and asked that her husband be restrained from ever speaking to her again.

In her petition Mrs. Chamberlain declared that before marriage Chamberlain had represented himself as a man of wealth and the owner of a palatial north side residence, and that she had married him in order to be financially able to care for relatives who were largely dependent on her for support. Later, she said, she found that his story of riches was a fabrication.

One week later Chamberlain charged Leon Hyland, uncle of the bride, with alienation of affections and sued for $25,000 damages, alleging that the uncle had forced her to file the divorce suit. The entire litigation will be withdrawn, it was stated.

LEAGUE CLOSES SEASON

The second round games of the House League at the Central Presbyterian church were played Tuesday night which brought to an end the basketball season started last November. The Gideons won the first round and had a hot time holding their own in the second half but came through victorious, winning all of their games.

They will be awarded a pennant for the championship title. The games Tuesday night resulted as follows: Beekers, 12; Bell Wevils, 6; Floodings, 10; F. O. B., 7. The exhibition game between the Gideons and the Cottons resulted in a victory for the former, score 12-4.

EXPLAIN OPPOSITION TO PLAN OF SHIPPERS

Claim Proposal Would Result in Lowering Carriers'
Revenue 9 Per Cent.

Testimony designed to show that the proposal of shippers for rate revision in the southeast would result in lowering carriers' revenue by 9 per cent was introduced at the hearing before the interstate commerce commission at the Piedmont Wednesday by Charles Barham, chairman of the Southern Freight association.

Hearings in the investigation of the commission, with the view of revising rates on shipments within, coming in or going out of the southeastern section of the United States, are being conducted by Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman and Examiner H. J. Wagner, of the interstate commerce commission.

Barham Cross-Examined.

Following completion of his direct testimony with regard to the proposal of the shippers, Mr. Barham was cross-examined by Commissioner Eastman and C. E. Cottrell, general counsel, for the Southern Traffic league, with regard to the carriers' objection to the proposal of the shippers to make distance the determining factor in rates, using the mileage system as proposed.

In the course of the cross-examination, Mr. Barham was asked for information concerning the short haul rates, and the extent to which rates had been lowered on traffic of this kind for the purpose of competing with wagon freighting or trucking.

He advanced the opinion that the carriers would contend, in the event of a revision of the rates that would result in decreasing revenue, that the interstate rates be cut down and no change be made in the short distance rates.

Besides his two brothers he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Orr, and a sister, Mrs. Paul E. Miller, both of Atlanta, and another brother, C. M. Orr, of Fort Valley, Ga.

MARIETTA PURCHASES
NEW FIRE EQUIPMENT

Marietta, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—A new and up-to-date fire engine has been purchased by the city fathers of Marietta. The new truck was purchased from the Hebert company by Mayor Gordon B. Ginn and members of the city council, who made the trip to Atlanta.

The new equipment will be modern in every way, carrying full chemical equipment, extension hose, water hose and a pressure pump operated by power from the motor. The equipment complete is to cost $14,000, which, it is announced, will be paid from the regular appropriation for the fire department.

It is understood that the fire insurance rate will be lowered as soon after delivery of the truck as an inspection can be made by the South-eastern Underwriters' association. The reduction in rates which Marietta will be entitled to will mean a saving of approximately $7,500 annually to property owners here.

of such establishments will be introduced in city council at its session next Monday, according to Alderman J. R. Bachman, of the twelfth ward. Should the ordinance be adopted, it is the plan of Alderman Bachman to insist that all poolrooms be closed within a short period, or as soon as proprietors could dispose of their investment. It is expected that council will be closely divided and that a strong fight will be waged by those favoring retention of poolrooms.

Alderman Bachman declared he had been assured the support of a number of councilmanic leaders, including Jesse W. Armistead, chairman of the police committee; Councilman J. J. Greer, of the third ward; Councilman J. L. Cassell, of the twelfth ward, and Alderman J. L. Carpenter, of the eleventh ward.

Fourteen Southern Business College Students Get Fine Positions, While Many Are Enrolling for the Spring Term

New Pupils Are Arriving From
All Parts of the Country to Enter the Southern for the Spring Term, Beginning
March 5 to 12 Inclusive.

A. C. BRISCOE, President (left), L. W. ARNOLD, Vice President (right), of the Southern Shortland and Business University.

Fourteen students of the Southern Shortland and Business University, 11 Whitehall street, have just gone to positions of responsibility with prominent firms in Atlanta and elsewhere.

As usual, this long-established school for Business Training shows results.

As usual, the attendance of this school is increasing daily, the months of January and February, just past, showing the largest business in the history of this institution for the corresponding months.

The Southern is popular because its students are successful, and the students are successful because they are thoroughly trained.

For instance, the Southern teaches the Twentieth Century Bookkeeping, the best known, and Pitmanic Phonography, the shorthand used by ninety-one out of every hundred court reporters in the United States. As a consequence, its bookkeepers are competent and its stenographers are expert.

The following students have accepted positions during the past few days with some of Atlanta's leading firms:

Miss Alton Stanley, bookkeeper for the H. L. Schlesinger Co.; Miss Effie Walton, stenographer for the Gate City Dairy & Ice Cream Co.; F. E. Dunbar, bookkeeper for the American Writing Machine Co.; Miss Minnie Clegg, stenographer for the Automobile Insurance Co.; Miss Mutelle

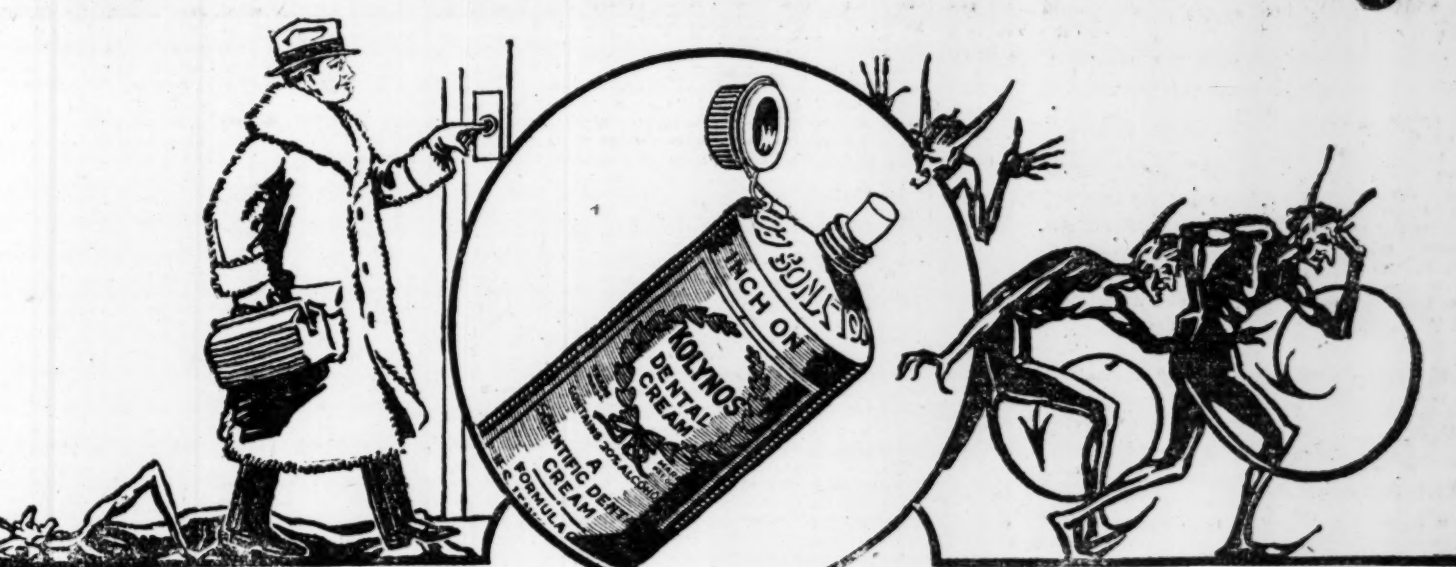

Godby, bookkeeper for the College Park Lumber Co.; William Smith, bookkeeper for the National Fire Insurance Co.; Miss Sara Fincher, stenographer for Austin & Boykin, the law firm; Miss Lettie Wilson, stenographer for the Askin-Marine Co.; Miss Louise Shivers, bookkeeper for the Stone Cake Co.; David H. Hovey, stenographer for the Lon Credelle Co.; Miss Eva Green, stenographer for the Frank E. Block Co.; Miss Clarice Hogan, stenographer for the

Jno. I. Leonard Co.; Miss Velma Elington, stenographer for the Demountable Typewriter Sales Co.; Miss Jessie M. Jones, stenographer for the Black Shoe Co.

Enter now, for the spring term, the school that shows results. Call, phone or write for catalog, and reserve your desk within the next few days. Both day and night classes.

Address, A. C. Briscoe, President, or L. W. Arnold, Vice President, 11 Whitehall Street, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

KOLYNOS AS A HEALTH MEASURE

It used to be said, "The only good Indian is a dead Indian."

The only good pneumonia germ (pneumococcus) is a dead pneumococcus, or one under control.

If, by the simple process of brushing your teeth you can help control such dangerous germs in your mouth and throat, isn't it, reasonably speaking, a good thing to do?

Help Your Physician, Too

When you have had an attack of influenza—when the newly isolated bacterium pneumosintes has paid a visit to your lungs, their surface has been denuded of their protection against pneumonia and bronchitis germs.

Your only safeguard is to control these deadly follow-up germs while they remain in your mouth and throat—before they reach your lungs.

It is here that the germicidal property of Kolynos Dental Cream asserts itself. It has been shown by experiments recognized in the world of science and reported in scientific journals that Kolynos destroys and exercises control over propagating germs, including pneumococci, in the mouth and throat.

Raps Solons' Perquisite In Postoffice Selections

Work Declares Selection of Men Should Be Vested in Postoffice Department Alone.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Postmaster General Work recommended to President Harding today that selection of postmasters should no longer be considered a political perquisite of senators and representatives, but should be vested in the postoffice department alone.

At the same time the postmaster general, who retires from his present position on March 4 to become secretary of the interior, recommended that present regulations requiring examination of candidates for postmaster by the civil service commission also be abandoned.

"The postoffice department is a strictly business organization," said Dr. Work, "and it ought to be aided in putting the right man in the right place, as any private business concern would endeavor to do for its own advantage, and not be handicapped either by political considerations or by the restrictions entailed in the present plan requiring examination of the civil service commission, which does not even give civil service status."

Limits President's Choice.
In a statement Dr. Work pointed out that the present rule limits the president's choice in each case to three civil service candidates, none of whom may have had any real business ability, though they might be regarded as "good fellows" by their neighbors. He suggested that men trained and experienced in really "big business" could be secured for postmasters only by reversing the method of appointment. Instead of having the candidate seek the office, he said, the office should seek the man and keep on seeking until it finds the right man, to be retained in office as long as the service is successfully conducted under his management.

There is to be no more "arm appointments," and no partisan politics, national or local, in the appointment of postmasters, Dr. Work added. He

CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to compete in this contest, except the employees of the Priest Drug Company, and members of their families.
2. All words must be in English and envelopes postmarked not later than the night of June 1, 1923.
3. Two or more people may co-operate in answering the puzzle, but only one prize will be given to any one household.
4. Only English words will be counted. Only the singular or plural of a word will be counted. Each object or article can be given only one name, but any part of an object can be named. Objects appearing several times can be named but once. Webster's International Dictionary will be the final authority. Where several synonyms are equally applicable to an object shown in the picture, a person submitting any one of such synonyms will be given credit for one word only.
5. The largest list of words which correctly name visible objects beginning with the letter "P" will receive first prize, and so on down the list of 45 cash prizes. The winning list will be made up from among the words submitted by the contestants, and not controlled by any predetermined list of words selected by the judges as being the "correct" words.
6. One point will be allowed for each correct word and one point deducted for each incorrect word.
7. In case of ties for any prize offered, the full amount of prize tied for will be awarded each tying contestant.
8. The final decision will be made by three judges entirely independent of the contest, and their decision will be final and conclusive. They will judge the answers submitted and award the prizes at the end of the contest. Each participant entering the contest agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive. All answers will receive full consideration whether or not merchandise is purchased. At the close of the contest, the names of the prize winners will be published, and a copy of such list and prize winners' names and addresses will be sent upon request to any participant who sends us a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
9. Write words on one side of paper only, numbering them consecutively, 1, 2, 3, etc. (Pencil writing is not acceptable.) Words and written lists will not count against you, nor will neatness affect your score.
10. You may make your purchase of Priest Drug Company Preparations immediately if you wish, but you will have until June 1, 1923, to mail in your list of words.

wanted it understood, he explained, that he was not in favor of the selection of the civil service regulations now applied to employees of the postoffice department generally, but felt that the proposed change in the appointive method of postmasters would enable the department to give genuine practical effect to the basic civil service theory by making possible the selection of qualified business men.

Called Impracticable.
"After two years' experience," the postmaster general said, "in connection with the appointment of presidential postmasters, I am convinced that the procedure is not only impracticable in form, but unbusinesslike in principle. I can say this now, without charge of being influenced by official or partisan considerations. The great bulk of the presidential appointments has already been made. Of the approximately 14,000 presidential postmasters, about 10,000 have been appointed, and this includes the more important ones of the country. The 38,000 fourth class postmasters were put under civil service by President Taft."

"The plan by which the civil service commission selects three or four candidates for a postmaster appointment by the president entirely ignores practicable business principle of expert and intelligent selection."

"Appointment of experienced and successful business men as assistants to the postmaster general," Dr. Work said, "had proved to be of incalculable good to the service," and had furnished an example to guide in postmaster selections.

It would be essential in the practical business administration of the postal service," Dr. Work said, "to relieve the civil service commission on the one hand and political party referees on the other, from their obligation and participation in connection with the appointment of postmasters."

Large Turnover.
"The turnover of the postoffice department amounts to over three billion dollars annually. Fifty of the largest cities handle 54 per cent of it. Selecting postmasters to do this kind of business is a task not eligible by the previous administration. My predecessor sought to permit, through executive order, an option of choice to the president from among three eligibles, conforming to far with the civil service law. This failed because the system was wrong and the functions of the postmaster are not considered, nor his qualifications, intelligently weighed in examination."

Dr. Work outlined some of his suggestions as follows:
"Appoint without term, subject to removal for inefficiency or moral delinquency."
"Consult local chambers of commerce and similar business organizations in their selection."
"Remove residence requirements so that postmasters for central accounting offices, non branches of the postoffice department in the field, could be filled by promotion on merit."

DELAY RIOT TRIAL

Main State's Witness Missing in Columbus Case.

Columbus, Ga., February 28.—Because of failure of sheriff's officers to locate witnesses, the case of L. A. Ball, charged with riot and felony and connection with the alleged flogging of Sam Spivey, of Bibb City, was set for today in superior court, was postponed.

Spivey is alleged to have been whipped last fall by a crowd of about 15 to 20 men. Spivey is the main witness for the state, who is understood to be missing. It is believed that he now resides at Mobile, Ala.

will be done for the majority of those doing business here."

Pleased With Atlanta.
Commissioner Eastman expressed himself as highly pleased with the city of Atlanta, declaring it a rare privilege to be able to become acquainted with the personality of such a great city.

C. L. Coterill, general counsel of the Southern Traffic League and a member of the board of governors of the club, was introduced by President G. E. Boulleau, general freight agent, A. & W. P. railroad, as toastmaster.

Mr. Coterill declared that not since the creation of the interstate commerce commission about 30 years ago had an investigation been carried on so systematically and thoroughly as the present one, to which Mr. Eastman has been assigned, practically giving his entire time to it since its beginning last May.

So far, Mr. Coterill stated, 15,000 typewritten sheets, and more than 2,000 exhibits have been entered. Without question, he stated, the present hearing is the biggest in scope ever undertaken by the commission, and the outcome of it will have a bearing on practically every state of the union, and will also "set the pace" for future changes in commodity rates in the United States.

He expressed the belief that through the efficient and painstaking labor of Mr. Eastman and others of the commission, together with the combined efforts of shippers and carriers, the investigation would result in establishing a system of rates that would remove a great many discriminations and be of great value to the public.

Praise for Eastman.
Henry Thurtell, special attorney for the Southern railway, made a short speech praising Mr. Eastman. He made a preface to his speech about Mr. Eastman's human qualities, mentioning the fact that commissioners like games, fishing, etc., and related a number of stories of his experiences while serving as an examiner with the commission.

Mr. Coterill then introduced Mr. Eastman. Commissioner Eastman commended the principles underlying the Traffic club organization, and expressed deep pleasure at the courtesy extended him. He indulged the remarks made by Mr. Coterill regarding the hearing, and touched on a number of points connected with it. Mr. C. Maxwell, of the North Carolina public service commission, responded to an introduction with a short talk. Other guests of honor at the dinner were Examiner E. J. Wagner, of the interstate commerce commission, and Hudson Burr, chairman of the Florida public service commission.

For the occasion was furnished by the Peachtree Mandoliers. Miss Frances Woodberry rendered a soprano solo, accompanied by Miss Helen Schindler, and W. S. Terrell, Jr., rendered a violin solo.

"Growing Too Large"
(From Popular Mechanics Magazine.)
Big-game hunters will learn with some surprise that because the buffalo herd in the National Park at Yellowstone, Ala., is "growing too large" sportsmen in the vicinity are anxious that an open season on buffalo be declared next year. It is said that the herd has been suggested to the National Park board, and that favorable action is expected. The herd, reputed to be one of the largest in existence, numbers more than 8,000 and is increasing rapidly.

SAYS BRADSHAW TOLD OF WRECKING TRAIN

Witness in Murder Trial of "Striker" Tells of Alleged Confession.

Manchester, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—New evidence in the case against Tom Bradshaw, former employee of the A. R. & A. railway, charged with the wrecking of the train No. 92 and murder of Engineer Tom Greene and colored fireman between this city and Woodbury several months ago, was introduced in superior court here Wednesday by W. B. Bailey, present engineer for the railroad, who stated that Bradshaw had confessed the deed to him after he had succeeded in gaining Bradshaw's confidence under false pretense for sympathy for the strikers.

Bailey explained to the court that he gained the confidence of Bradshaw by sympathizing with the strikers and promising to aid them in hindering operation of the trains, if the strikers would in turn use their influence to get him reinstated in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Later he stated that he made the strikers believe that he had been discharged and official papers from the railroad headquarters were sent out to verify his statement.

Confessed Crime.
Bradshaw then confessed to him, he said, that he had removed the bolts and the rail that caused the wreck and the death of the two men, after having carried near the scene of the wreck in a car with Conductors O. A. McCain and J. R. Northcutt, who were also on strike, and who waited for him while he threw the tools into the creek.

He told Bailey the exact spot he had thrown the tools and later Bailey, accompanied by Harry Huddleston, superintendent of the railroad, and several others searched the creek and found the crowbar, wrench and other tools used in the act.

Bradshaw claims an alibi for defense, and introduced several witnesses who testified that on the night of the wreck he was in the town of Warm Springs, Ga., and was highly intoxicated. Witnesses claim that Bradshaw was too drunk to have committed any crime that night.

Other witnesses who testified for the state are Harry Huddleston, railway superintendent, and Mr. Roberts, of the interstate commerce commission. He investigated the wreck immediately after it happened and testified that it was caused by the rails having been tampered with.

Intense Interest.
Startling new evidence is promised by the state's attorneys for Thursday's session of court and interest in this section is growing more intense as the trial progresses. The jury is to take two or three days to complete the case. The defendant has 92 witnesses to place on the stand, it is said.

The case was tried last November but resulted in a mistrial, the jury standing 10 for conviction and 2 for acquittal. The state is represented by Solicitor-General W. Y. Atkinson, assisted by the firm of Lovejoy & Meyer, of LaGrange, and McLaughlin & Jones, of Greenville. Ga. Defendant is represented by Attorney N. F. Culpepper, of Greenville.

Preacher Searches For Missing Daughter; Foul Play Is Feared

Waycross, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Rev. Willis W. Tharpe, of Pelham, Ga., is in Waycross in search of his 13-year-old daughter, Gladys, who mysteriously disappeared two weeks ago in Columbus, Ga.

The father is firm in his belief that his daughter had met with foul play. Miss Tharpe was last seen by Mrs. Lula Leslie on Thirty-ninth street, in Columbus, to whom she delivered a letter with the statement that she would return to see her in the morning.

The frantic father has followed every clue in a vain search for his daughter. Mr. Tharpe is a Missionary Baptist minister. He lived at Arlington for seven years, until November 1, 1921, when he moved to Pelham.

Sound Health Given By Tanlac Remains After 7 Years, Says Nowell

Striking Statement by Well-Known Atlanta Citizen Demonstrates Lasting
Character of Restorations
Wrought by World-Famous Medicine.

When a medicine proves so effective in the restoration of health—toning up the system, strengthening and invigorating the constitution—that, after going through years of strenuous business life, epidemics of influenza, LaGrippe, vexations, worries and cares, those who take it can say they are still strong and well, it must be conceded that such a preparation obtains of the highest degree of purity and efficiency that skill and science are able to accomplish.

It is this high degree of purity and efficiency that characterizes Tanlac as "different" from the average so-called tonics. It is this that is responsible for Tanlac's record-breaking sales of 35,000,000 bottles in eight years and has brought forth the outspoken praise of upwards of 75,000 well-known men and women throughout the land. In a few words it is this high degree of purity and efficiency that has given Tanlac the distinction of being "The World's Greatest Tonic Medicine."

The realization of the wonderful health-giving properties of Tanlac in their own lives and experiences has caused vast numbers of people in and about Atlanta to speak out in gratitude to the treatment. It was the immediate and gratifying results J. M. Nowell, 17 East Alabama street, obtained from Tanlac some seven years ago, that prompted him to voluntarily state, at that time:

"Tanlac certainly beats anything I ever saw in the way of a medicine and I want to tell everybody I can about it. Before taking the treatment I was suffering a great deal with periodical headaches and was tired all the time. I had no appetite to speak of and never slept well. To tell the truth, I was all down and out, but since taking Tanlac I can eat, sleep and work like a farm hand. It is the lasting qualities of Tanlac—the permanent nature of the good accomplished—that enabled Mr. Nowell to say the other day: 'Since taking my first treatment of Tanlac about seven years ago, I have not been bothered in the least with any of the old troubles. So I can testify to both the immediate and lasting benefits one gets from the use of Tanlac.'"

Such is the all-important role Tanlac has played in the business life, home life and social life of thousands of other well-known people in Atlanta and vicinity, hundreds of whom have heretofore testified to the remarkable powers of the medicine.

Therefore, no better reason could be offered as an inducement for people who are not enjoying a full measure of good health to immediately begin taking the Tanlac treatment. In the springtime all mankind, after weathering the storms of winter, is in need of an uplifting tonic and, as has been proved by vast sales and great number of testimonials, there is nothing so invigorating to a run-down system as Tanlac.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold. Accept no substitute.—(adv.)

That Could Help New York Man

Such a letter as the following shows beyond a doubt that Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic is an astonishingly successful remedy for general run-down condition, indigestion, stomach or blood trouble.

It has been received from Mr. John Maroney, 235 E. 125th St., New York City, who says he believes a fair trial will convince anyone of its good. He says:

"To begin with, I will say that after one week's use I find it a wonderful remedy. For years the only trouble I suffered from was heartburn and belching of the stomach; the rheumatism came within the last couple of years."

"I had gone to the doctors, I have bought patent medicines for stomach and blood, of every description, but all to no use. The only relief I ever got was from Bicarbonate of Soda, but that would not cure."

"My boss, Mr. Keenan, told me I should try the Paw Paw Tonic, and he was telling me what they did for him. The result was so satisfactory that I continued them to a cure. Since I began the use of Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic, my health is better than it has been for years."

EXPECT FARM BILL TO PASS THURSDAY

Bill Will Then Go to Conference for Settlement of Differences With the Senate.

Washington, February 28.—Farm credits legislation was put well on its way to passage in the house tonight, but a final vote was deferred until tomorrow, because of the absence of a number of members. After the house acts, the bill will be sent to conference for adjustment of differences with the senate.

The measure, a combination of the Capper, Lenroot-Anderson and Strong bills, was called up today under a special rule limiting general debate to four hours and at a night session, it was considered section by section for amendment under a rule limiting discussion on each amendment to five minutes for each speaker.

Chief opposition was voiced by representatives from eastern states, with members from the south and west giving almost solid support. Representative Luce, republican, Massachusetts, was in charge of opposing forces, while leading the supporters in the debate were Chairman McFadden, of the banking committee, which reported the bill; Representative Wingo, of Arkansas, ranking democrat on that committee, and Representatives Anderson, of Minnesota, and Tineher of Kansas, republicans.

England established the first military bank in connection with her army in 1785.

COURT DISMISSES ARDMORE CASES

Ten Defendants on Trial for Murder in Oklahoma Turned Loose After Jury Impaneled.

Ardmore, Okla., February 28.—The trials of 11 leading citizens for murder in connection with the killing of Joe Carroll, by a band of masked men, the night of December 15, 1921, came to a sudden end here this afternoon when District Judge W. F. Freeman dismissed the case pending against 10 of the men after the jury to hear the case had been impaneled.

The eleventh man had been acquitted a few minutes previously.

The dismissal was on the motion of J. L. Hodge, county attorney, who declared the state did not have sufficient evidence to go to trial. He said the strongest case had been against Jeff Smith, who was declared not guilty by a jury which tried him on a severance, and that it would be useless to prosecute the others. J. B. (Curley) Smith, also had obtained a severance.

Testimony introduced at Jeff Smith's trial was to the effect that Carroll had received a communication signed "K. K. K. No. 18," warning him to cease his alleged bootlegging activities and leave the vicinity and that in retaliation he had ordered a parade which voiced defiance to the Klan.

Washington, February 28.—A resolution requesting President Harding to order an investigation of charges that the federal reserve board, at a secret meeting in Washington on May 18, 1922, decided upon a drastic deflation policy and proceeded to put it in operation without public knowledge, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho. It was referred to the banking committee.

Referring to the incident as "a great conspiracy," Senator Gooding read a detailed description published in a recent issue of The Manufacturers Record of Baltimore, the article alleged to have been based on stenographic notes, quoted Governor Harding, of the reserve board, as urging complete secrecy regarding the meeting, though suggesting to the bankers present that they might inform their directors of the decision reached. Mr. Gooding called attention to the "tremendous power" such advance information would give to any one interested in the stock market.

Replying to Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, who suggested that the resolution provide for a senate committee to make the inquiry, Senator Gooding said:

"I think this matter is of sufficient importance to warrant the attention of the president himself, and I am confident he will act. I want him to discover what influence this meeting had on the decision of the interstate commerce commission to order a material horizontal increase in freight rates about this time."

"Should Be Hung."

Senator Heflin characterized the Washington conference, which was attended also by the advisory council of the board and representatives of Class A banks, as having compromised "a cut and dried plan to pillage and plunder" and asserted that those who participated "should be hung."

Recalling that a resolution was introduced by Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois, in the senate on the same day that the meeting was held, requesting information from the board as to its deflation policy, Mr. Heflin asserted he believed "there must have been some understanding, which would explain that coincidence."

"Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, predicted at the time," he continued, "that the attempt would be made to make that resolution the nucleus on which the explanation of deflation would be built. It was a great prophecy. Another senator from the northwest, a republican, told me he had been given a private warning of what was going to take place and was urged to get in out of the wet. The senator said, however, that it was impossible for him to do so."

Special instructions were issued by Police Chief James L. Beavers Wednesday designed to facilitate the detection and apprehension of burglars, automobile thieves and night-prowlers in general.

One of the most important orders the chief issued demanded that members of the force make cases against all persons leaving their automobiles parked in the streets without a full light upon them, as required by law.

Besides being a protection to the machine which is parked and other vehicles traveling the streets, the light will enable officers to see thieves prowling about the car. Chief Beavers pointed out.

A special detail of plainclothes officers has been detailed to traverse the various beats of the uniform men reporting regularly from various points, and with instructions to be particularly vigilant in the section of North Jackson and Cain streets where several robberies have occurred recently.

HUSBAND BOUND OVER ON WIFE'S COMPLAINT

The domestic unhappiness of Mrs. T. W. Bradley was unfolded in police court Wednesday when she appeared to prosecute her husband on charges of assault and battery.

She exhibited to the court a scar on the lip, the result, she stated, of a vicious blow her husband struck her with a cane when she refused to live with him. Mrs. Bradley had gone to the home of her husband's brother Sunday evening to visit her 18-month-old daughter when her husband followed her from the house and attacked her when she refused to abandon divorce proceedings, she said.

Recorder Johnson, after lecturing Bradley, held him to the state courts under a $200 bond for trial under charges of assault and battery.

Atlanta Women
May View the Best
In New Millinery

The beautiful spring millinery at Rosenbaum's, 38 Whitehall street, will certainly be of interesting moment to Atlanta women and offers an unusual opportunity to them to view the best in hats.

Twelve of the most prominent and noted Paris milliners selected his or her individual design and the exact model is on display there today. An invitation is extended to the charming debutantes and matrons to visit this exclusive shop and learn just the latest word in color, material and design.

Through special arrangement with Vogue Hat company, of New York, the showing of these models was arranged by Rosenbaum. Such designers as Maria Guy, Maison Lewis, Caroline Reboux, Georgette, Suzanne Talbot, Lucie Hamar, Marie Louise, Jennie Lavuin, Eliane, Suzy, Evelyn Varon, and Rose Descat created these adorable models, and in the March number of The Ladies' Home Journal, that alluring bit of femininity, fascinating Irene Castle, has posed for her picture, and wears them all most picturesquely.

This particular display of French millinery carries an appeal for day-time and evening wear, and all have their own individual character. Feathers, ribbon and flowers trim large and small models in a most precious manner, while cotton crepe and tulle are employed to cover the correct shape of 1923.

Introducing an Innovation
In the Presentation of
Seventy-Five Supreme Beller
Garments

TO be supreme in all things is a to-be-envied state. To be supreme in dress devolves on the simple decision to wear Beller garments... indisputably supreme in the good taste which is unusual without being bizarre.

BELLER garments are distinctive for their thoroly "wearable" qualities. Beller style takes the lines that are universally becoming and are never extremely exaggerated.

... in all the fresh breezy colors of spring...

Stunning sports models... dresses... suits... coats... coats of oursine—the English sportswoman coat... Egyptian dresses that breathe of Tutankhamen history, beautiful and barbaric—Russian suits, fantastic in most approved taste both in tone and texture.

THESE EXCLUSIVE GARMENTS IN ONE - THIRD OFF SALE TODAY

Sample garments they are—one of a kind—bought from A. Beller & Co.—at a one-third-off price concession—they have been shown in New York only as their model garments, opening the spring season—

We shall show them today—and every woman of fashion will wish to see these day-time garments and luxurious evening wraps with a view to opera—when the supremacy of such good taste will create that "mild sensation"—so much desired.

Atlanta Women Rally to Y. W. C. A. Deficit Appeal

A large body of representative Atlanta women assembled at the Young Women's Christian association, Peachtree Arcade, Wednesday at 1 o'clock, to assist the association in raising $14,000 to make up its deficit for them.

The deficit is the result of the failure of the Five Way Drive that was conducted in Atlanta in December at which time the Y. W. C. A., with four other local organizations, suffered its portion of the drive's failure. The Y. W. C. A., after accepting a volunteer reduction of salaries on the part of the association's secretaries, cutting the expense of necessary equipment and the expansion of work, is now quietly raising the $14,000 fund, that must be obtained through the generosity of public contributions.

Among the women who are assembled to aid as volunteer workers in raising the necessary amount were Miss Sally Eugenia Brown, Mesdames Emily C. McDougald, Chaney Smith, M. Ashby Jones, Stiles Hopkins, F. M. Sutton, Miss Page Tucker, Miss Jean Davis, Mesdames Helen Watson, A. R. McMillan, Harry Chamberlin, E. V. Carter, Plato Durham, Will W. Alexander, Robert Eleazer, R. K. Rambo, Miss Elanette Goss, Mesdames Emmott Quinn, S. P. Boykin, George Walters, C. R. Ashley, Jr., Edwin C. Stewart, Guy Woolford, J. B. Kolb from Brazil, South America, Bolling Gay, W. Earl Quillian, J. M. Latham, A. L. McArthur, E. M. Willingham, E. K. Large, Miss Mayna Brace, Mesdames B. L. Buzz, Lillian W. Moore, Powers Pace, Priddy Powers, J. Russell Porter, Alice M. Taylor, J. F. Register, William Fisch, R. C. Jessup, W. A. Albright, E. R. Lowry, W. M. Tundin, S. Clayton Callaway, Wil Edgardo Horton, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Mesdames Alexander C. McDougald, J. E. Paulin, Louise Davidson, Miss Henrietta Davis and others.

Miss Irma E. Findley, Y. W. C. A. general secretary, presided at the meeting and explained the purpose and the necessity of Atlanta women rallying to the Y. W. C. A. in its present need.

Distinguished D. A. R. Guests To Be Entertained in Macon

Mrs. Morris Is Making Success In Charleston

News has been received from Charleston, S. C., of the wonderful success that Mrs. J. Edgar Morris is making in the musical circles of that city.

Mrs. Morris is an Atlantan by birth and until very recently was a resident of this city, where she was known as one of Atlanta's most gifted young singers. At the early age of 4, she gave signs of unusual talent and her training began at once. Mrs. Morris is the daughter of Mrs. Claudia Welch Bass and received her musical training from her mother, who is herself one of Atlanta's well-known vocal teachers.

Besides being possessed with a voice of rare beauty Mrs. Morris is a young woman of charming personality and her wide circle of friends will be gratified to know that her talent has found such quick recognition in her adopted city.

The following article was copied from the front page of the Charleston American, one of Charleston's foremost daily papers:

"Charleston has gained a talented and charming addition in her ranks of gifted singers, in the coming of Mrs. J. Edgar Morris, formerly of Atlanta.

"Coming here recently, to make her home, Mrs. Morris has won the admiration of all who have heard her. She is a member of the choir of Trinity Methodist church, and has entered into the musical affairs of Charleston with keen interest.

"Possessed of a well trained dramatic soprano voice, this young woman has accomplished much in the musical world. Since childhood she has appeared in notable musical programs in Atlanta, singing in some of the leading choirs of the Georgia city, among them, the choir of St. Luke's Episcopal, and Wesley Memorial Methodist churches.

"Last night, Mrs. Morris sang in the chorus that rendered so superbly Handel's 'Messiah,' at St. Philip's Episcopal church. Next Sunday she will render a special solo at Trinity Methodist church—"O Holy Night"—by Adolphe Adams.

Mrs. Bonita Crowe Talks Of Aged Musician's Home

Mrs. Bonita Crowe, well-known pianist-composer and organist of Tennessee and Mississippi, who has been appointed the representative in Georgia of the Musicians' Fund of America, which will have for its object the building of a home for aged and indigent musicians.

Mrs. Bonita Crowe, who is a well known pianist-composer and organist of Tennessee and Mississippi, is now making her home in Atlanta at 333 Myrtle street, has been appointed the representative in Georgia of the Musicians' Fund of America, which will have for its object the building of a home for aged and indigent musicians.

Mrs. Crowe's musical activities have embraced offices in the State Music Teachers' association and Federation of Music Clubs. Her last service was that of president of Mississippi Federation of Music Clubs. She has made for herself an enviable position in southern music circles by her finished performances in many recitals in which she has appeared. Her biography is in "Who's Who in Music" and the Musical Blue Book.

What the Fund Is. In speaking of the home for indigent musicians, Mrs. Crowe says: "The Musicians' Fund of America is a national, non-sectarian association.

Since the discovery, in 1896, of Nadinola, a marvelous bleaching cream, thousands of beautiful women have learned the secret of Skin Re-creation

Are you one of them? Do you know this method of skin re-creation?

The incomparable beauty of thousands of southern women, that smooth, satin-like skin texture so much admired—is the result of Nadinola Cream, which has proved itself for more than a quarter of a century the standard beautifying and bleaching cream. There are many imitations but no equal.

Scientists long ago discovered and combined in Nadinola Cream those elements which bleach the skin, remove tan, freckles, pimples, and blackheads. Nadinola Cream is now the choice everywhere by women who care.

Let Nadinola Cream re-create your skin. By its own peculiar properties and virtues not found in any other preparation—Nadinola Cream rises the skin and pores of impurities, smooths away wrinkles and leaves the skin healthy, smooth and beautiful.

It is a pure white cream, scientifically compounded and delightfully perfumed with attar of roses. It is inexpensive. Applied at night, the 50c. package is sufficient to remove mild cases of tan, freckles, blackheads and other discolorations, and the $1.00 size for the most stubborn cases. Directions and binding guarantee in each package. Get Nadinola Cream at your toilet counter, use as directed and you will be delighted.

Caruso's Indorsement

"In a letter from the late Enrico Caruso, written the day before his departure for Europe, he heartily indorsed this movement.

Many Appeals

"The many appeals made from time to time to alleviate the severe distress of composers and others in the musical field so impressed Mrs. Lee Schweiger, of St. Louis, formerly Adelle Recht, concert singer of New York, that on May 5, 1921, she called together a number of prominent men and women to formulate plans whereby help might be assured worthy musicians, the outcome of which was the incorporation of the Musicians' Fund of America on August 6, 1921.

"The membership," went on Mrs. Crowe "is open to every one interested in the development of music and the needy musicians' welfare. The dues are $2 per year. Life membership, $100."

HOW TO SAVE WHEN SHOPPING

By Ruth Leigh.
Author of "The Rules of Retail Selling," "The A B C of Retailing," Etc.

One of the first questions we ask in buying furs is: "Will it wear?" There is really no true answer, because no two skins are exactly alike and no two people will wear a fur in the same way. Here is an interesting little table, however, prepared by a fur expert, Clifton R. Field, which shows the approximate wearing quality and durability of different furs. Otter is used as a basis, representing 100 per cent in durability. The wearing qualities of the rest are on a basis of 100 per cent:

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there's really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guarantee to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PREMATURE GRAYNESS.

There are some things that one can do for premature grayness, though not great many.

The hair can be cut back a little, a few inches being taken off every month or so, or it can be bobbed if that style is becoming. This frequently gives it a fresh lease on life.

It can be given a daily thorough massage with the fingers or with an electric vibrator, and a daily, or thrice a week, massage with a special hair tonic. Here is the formula for a tonic which as it contains picrocaprine—a drug acting particularly on the color cells—washes off gray hair, always lessens the amount of it, and sometimes cures it entirely. The tonic is:

Picrocaprine Hydrochlorate 2 grains
Precipitated Sulphur 30 grains
Detergent 20 drops
Castor Oil 10 drops
Alcohol (95 per cent) 4 ounces
Tr. Candarides 4 drams
Cologne 1 dram
Rose water, to make 8 ounces

Or, you can use the extra benign shampoo which will color the gray threads either gold or reddish and make them much less conspicuous. For this treatment shampoo and rinse the hair as usual, and while wet apply a very hot paste made of one ounce of powdered Egyptian henna. This can stay on 5, 10 or 15 minutes (excitement will show you how long) then rinse it off thoroughly before the hair is dried.

You can use a tonic and stain made of sage and sulphur which is made of steeping two ounces of sage herbs in a pint of water for half an hour, straining, then adding one ounce tincture of camphor and one and one-half ounces of flower of sulphur. This can be used daily and is effective, though sometimes a little messy.

Flu. B.—All foods in which there is much acid have a tendency to reduce. Such foods, however, will also impair the health so they should be limited.

The proper way to reduce is to arrange your diet according to the number of calories that you require, or to omit much of the food which produces weight.

H. G. L.—There is no special preparatory treatment necessary in preparing the skin for use of cornstarch as a cleanser. All necessary is to mix the starch with enough water to make it like a thick cream, after which you rub it into all the coarse pores, or over the entire face and throat. Allow this to stay on until the starch has dried thoroughly. Remove it with warm water, and follow up with a massage in which you feel the skin with as much cream as it will absorb. The reason for this cream application is due to the fact that the starch, while removing the soil from the pores, has also consumed all the natural secretions in the skin.

Tomorrow—Health and Tonics.

All inquiries addressed to Miss

Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

The HOUSEHOLD

Edited by Anne Rittenhouse

EARLY MORNING INDUSTRY.

Way back in Bible days the housewife who rose early in the morning came in for much praise. Apparently there was nothing that a man could find much more desirable in a wife than this habit of rising betimes in the morning.

Conditions of housekeeping have moved centuries ahead since then, but the early rising housewife still receives many laurels, and added to this she often finds that her tasks are very much simpler and her own strength is conserved through this habit of getting up with the sun. Certainly it is not hardship in the spring, and in summer it means work in the cool of the day and thereby having time to lay off for a nap or relaxation when the sun is high.

The housewife who rises early, say an hour and a half or two hours before the time that breakfast is to be served, has time for her bath and fairly careful dressing. Then in itself is a great satisfaction. This if she does her own cooking she will have an hour or more to spend in the kitchen and dining room before breakfast. If she is going to have cooked cereal she should give her first attention to this, because it is always an advantage to give cereal long cooking. It is an excellent plan to give the downstairs rooms a thorough airing before breakfast. It is also a good plan to take inventory of the refrigerator at this time. If you are planning to have a left-over meat dish for luncheon or dinner, get your meat ready at this time. This sometimes means using the meat grinder, always an arduous task. At this time you can make up your lists of things you need to buy for the day and can have the refrigerator and kitchen in shipshape, so that after breakfast it is not a difficult matter to finish with the kitchen work as soon as the breakfast dishes are done.

The objection that the housewife sometimes raises is that she feels faint if she works before eating. To get around this she can easily take a glass of milk and water.

What Women Wear

BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE

The Fashion for Handkerchiefs Worn Around the Shoulders Has Brought Into Being Several Kinds of Scarfs Attached to Bodices On the Bias. Some Like Army Belts. They Are Separate and They Are Made of the Blouse Material.

America accepted the handkerchief fashion as eagerly as France. They were six months getting it. Evidently they wanted to make up their minds whether or not it was worthy of acceptance.

Just now the sight of these handkerchiefs is wearisome to those who dwell in great centers for they see a popular fashion repeated a thousand times a week. But it is reasonable to suppose that the whole United States of America must have its fling with a colored handkerchief until the fashion dies down, collapses like a balloon.

In the wake of this bandanna, and inspired by it, are various blouse draperies which strike the eye of the individualist as something worthwhile. They are used on sport frocks now, but they will find a path to various types of street and country frocks.

The sketch today shows a new scarf arrangement inspired by the printed handkerchief. It is of yellow crepe de chine edged with a ruffle of itself used as drapery from right shoulder to left hip. The skirt is finely box-pleated, of the same crepe as the blouse. The parasol and hat scarf contribute their quota to the fashion for printed decoration. These are both of cretonne in blue, red and black on a yellow surface. The hat is of yellow straw.

The bias treatment of a blouse is in the ascendency. Few of the new summer jackets built of printed silks and plain camels' hair omit the bias line across chest. Nearly all finish with a huge bow at left hip. Two many of them do this. One month after the fashion was started it became universal. Taking a walk on Fifth avenue one got the impression that no other kind of jacket was permissible than the straight coat ending at hips, but with a bias opening from shoulder to hip, finished with a big bow and ends, was a uniform.

The makers of blouses like to join the procession of fashion, so they arrange a draper imitative of a handkerchief. It goes from one side to the

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Clever Camouflage. White window sashes that have become soiled will look quite refreshed if painted green on one side and left white on the other.

Preparedness. If the clothes you wear are looked over each time before they are put away, brushed, buttons tightened, etc., your wardrobe cannot help but be neat and in good condition at all times.

First Aid Shelf. Every kitchen should have its first-aid shelf, on which should be a bottle of peroxide, witch hazel, ointment for burns and scalds, vaseline, a pair of scissors, cotton gauze and string. This shelf should be at some distance from the kitchen stove.

The Untidy Back Yard. The untidy backyard is largely a matter of lack of decision on the part of the housekeeper. She is not certain whether she wants to keep this or that, and it is put in the back yard until she comes to a decision. Nine times out of ten, weather conditions, growing rate, etc., make the decision for her, and the article that should have been thrown out at the start is ruined anyway. Don't harbor trash that will only result in an unsightly rear to your home.

other. It is a relief from the universal straight blouse edged with hemstitched bands and decorated with a monogram, therefore, it has chance for success.

If one does not care for drapery, if one insists upon flat lines, it is quite easy to run a blouse of figured material from shoulder to hip instead of drapery. Use embroidery instead of fabrics, if you like it better.

FRIENDS NOTICED IMPROVEMENT

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bethel, Wis.—My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it did not help me as much as it should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 93 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound.—Mrs. W. G. MONSON, 1615 Park Ave., Beloit, Wis.

Yes, as perhaps you have already guessed, the young lady in the embarrassing situation pictured above is Miss Cam O'Flage—she who for six days a week has been wont to queen it on The Constitution's comic pages as Somebody's Stenog.

But her home life—that's something different, for there she comes under the strict discipline of Mr. O'Flage, her father. It is Mr. O'Flage who is shown exercising his parental authority. As may be inferred, he has never heard of moral suasion or the power of suggestion but is a downfighter of the old school.

Be that as it may, Miss O'Flage has become such a favorite with Constitution readers that The Constitution has decided to present her activities during all seven days of the week and has arranged with Artist A. E. Hayward so that

This Will Ward Off And Break Up Colds

Just a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin removes the congestion

THE two ailments that people generally regard as of the least importance are in reality the cause of most serious illnesses and of the greatest proportion of deaths. They are constipation and common colds. Many doctors now believe that colds, tonsillitis, a touch of malaria will cause constipation. Instead of constipation being their cause. The fact remains that you seldom have a cold without constipation. The only way to avoid colds is to keep up your vitality. You usually catch cold in the winter if you are run down. Therefore in cold weather exercise more; eat more fatty foods; drink four to six glasses of water a day; keep the head cool; the feet warm; the bowels open.

You are also less liable to colds if your system is free from the intestinal poisons of constipation, so empty the bowels regularly with a plain vegetable laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

At the first sign of a cold, at the first few warning sneezes, take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin and the congestion will be gone in a few hours. Don't wait until the cold has a grip on you. Mr. Henry Dear Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., cured a stubborn cold in just that way, and Mrs. Alice Corbrey of Haskell, Okla., uses it effectively for all the small ills of her family, such as constipation, biliousness, headaches, dizziness, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it. Before you again resort to cold remedies containing narcotic try a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist will supply you, and the cost is less than a cent a dose.

"The Little Nugget"

BY P. G. WODEHOUSE

Next Week, "The Sea Bride"
By Ben Ames Williams

"I will take his statement, Fetch the butler."

White told his story briefly and I suggested that further conversation take place in the presence of Mr. Abney, who, I imagined, would have something to say on the subject of hushing the thing up.

It took some time to explain matters to Mr. Abney, and more to convince Bones and his colleague that publicity was the thing we were anxious to avoid.

They had hardly gone when Glosop whistled into the room.

"Mr. Abney, Oden Ford is no where to be found!"

"What do you mean?" Mr. Abney demanded. "Buster Burns, I understand you to—ah—say that the scoundrels took their departure without the boy Ford."

"They certainly did. I watched them go."

"I have searched the house thoroughly," said Glosop, "and there are no signs of him. And not only that, the boy Burns has been found."

They must have run away together. Mr. Abney sat up, electrified.

"Such a thing has never happened in the school before!" he cried. "Nothing must be done at once. It is imperative that we take immediate steps. They have gone to London. Buster Burns, you must go to London by the next train."

When I returned to the hall carrying my bag, I found Andrew there.

"I'm being sent to London," I said.

"I know," White told me. "Peter, bring him back!"

"That's why I'm being sent," I said. "I mean everything to me."

"I'll tell you," Mr. Ford said. "I'm here to be near Oden, to guard him. He's being sent to London. I have failed. If Oden is not brought back, Mr. Ford will have nothing more to do with me. He never forgives failure. I'm afraid. Bring him back. Send you will!"

I did not answer. I could find nothing to say. For it was I who was responsible for all that had happened. I had planned everything. I had given Oden Ford the money that had taken him to London. And soon, unless I could reach London before it happened and prevent him, he with my valet, Smith, would be in the Dover boat train on his way to Monaco.

XVI.

It was only after many hours of thought that it had flashed upon me that simplest and safest way of removing the Little Nugget was to induce him to remove himself. The negotiation which had taken place that morning in the stable yard had been brief. He grasped the essential points of the scheme with amazing promptitude. His little hand was extended to receive the cash almost before I had finished speaking.

The main outline of my plan was that he should slip away to London in the afternoon to my room, where he would find Smith; and with Smith travel to his mother at Monaco. But now an utterly unforeseen complication had arisen. My one desire now was to undo everything for which I had been plotting. I stood there, looking at Andrew dumbly.

I heard my name spoken, and turned to find White at my elbow.

"Mr. Abney would like to see you, sir."

I went upstairs, glad to escape. The tension of the situation had begun to tear at my nerves.

"Cut it, Buster Burns," said my employer, swallowing a lozenge. "White has just had an—ah—extraordinary elucidation to be, it seems he is really a detective, an employee of Pinkerton's agency, of which you have of course—ah—heard."

So White had revealed himself! "Sent here by Mr. Ford, I suppose?" I felt I had to say something.

"Exactly. An—precisely!" He sneezed. "I merely begged it to explain why White will accompany you to London."

This was appalling. If this infernal detective was to accompany me, my chance of bringing Oden back was gone. It had been my intention to go straight to my rooms, in the hope of finding him not yet departed; but how was I to explain his presence there to White?

"I don't think it's necessary, Mr. Abney," I protested.

"Two heads are better than one," said the invalid sentimentally. "White will accompany you, Buster Burns," he said doggedly.

"Very well," I said.

It was when we had settled ourselves in an empty compartment and the train had started that White found speech.

"Mr. Burns," he said, "let's talk for a spell."

Again I seemed to detect a curious undercurrent of meaning in his voice. "You didn't want me around on this trip, did you?"

"It seemed rather unnecessary for both of us to go," I said indifferently. "What do you propose to do when you get to London?"

"I promised to stick to you like a label on a bottle, sonny," he said.

"What do you mean?"

"I want you to find out that address you gave the Ford kid this morning out in the stable yard. I guess you didn't know I was around, or you wouldn't have talked that way. I must say it jarred me when I heard you pulling that stuff. It had never occurred to me that you could be playing that game. It only shows that you've got to suspect everybody."

THE GUMPS—IT'S HARD TO GET UP A HILL AND DOWN A PILL

"The boy I wrote to you about."

"He has not arrived, sir."

"Not arrived?"

"No, sir."

I stared at him blankly. Before he could reply a fruity voice spoke at the door behind me.

"What? Hasn't he arrived?"

I turned. There, beaming and benevolent, stood Mr. Fisher.

"It occurred to me to look your name up in the telephone directory," he explained.

"Come in here," I said, opening the door of the sitting room.

"So, understand that the Nugget has gone wrong in transit?"

"I can't understand it."

"I can! You gave him a certain amount of money?"

"Yes. Enough to get him to where he was going."

"Then, knowing the boy, I should say that he has found other uses for it. He's whooping it up in London, and I should fancy, having the time of his young life. I mean to find him. This is where our paths divide, Mr. Burns."

"You say 'was to have taken' Have you changed your plans?"

"Yes. I'm going to take the boy back to the school."

He laughed—a rich, rolling laugh.

"It won't do, young man," he said. "If you want to give me the slip you must do better than that. I can see you bringing the Nugget back to the school."

He shook his head reprovingly.

"You will not be so fresh, sonny, in a few hours. You will be biting pieces out of yourself. I fear, and later on, when my automobile splashes you with mud in Piccadilly, you will taste the full bitterness of remorse. Well, youth must buy its experience, I suppose."

I looked across at him, as he sat plump and rosy and complacent, puffing at his cigarette, and my heart warmed to the old ruffian. It was impossible to maintain an attitude of righteous incense with him. I burst out laughing.

"What makes you so set on kidnapping Oden Ford?" I asked.

"I know him, sonny, and you must have made your pile by this time. Why don't you retire?"

"Have you ever experienced the love of a good woman, sonny? I have. We came from the same old town. The arrangement was that I should go out and make the money to buy the home, and then come back and marry her."

"I wish you happiness," I said.

"You can do better than that. You can take me with you to that address I avoided the subject."

"What does she say to your way of making money?" I asked.

"She don't know, and she ain't going to know. So you will take me along, sonny, won't you?"

I shook my head.

Eventually the train glided slowly alongside the station platform.

I sprang out and ran to the cab rank. I was aboard a taxi, bowling out of the station, before the train had stopped.

XVIII.

The cab pulled up. I ran up the stairs and opened the door of my apartment.

"Smith!" I called.

Smith came out.

"Thank goodness, you have not started! I thought I should miss you. Where is the boy?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

"The boy, sir?"

Burns. Good night!"

But Sam was not the only one who could go out into London to look at random for a boy. For two hours and a half I tramped the streets. Then, tired out, I went back to my rooms and climbed sorrowfully into bed.

The next day brought no result, and toward evening I decided to remain in London another night, at any rate, and went to the nearest postoffice to send Mr. Abney a telegram to that effect.

As I was writing it, the problem which had baffled me for twenty-four hours solved itself in less than a minute.

XIX.

I must have been thinking so exclusively of the Little Nugget that I had entirely forgotten the existence of Augustus Beckford. It occurred to me now that my making inquiries at the latter's house I should learn something to my advantage.

I knew the house well. There had been a time when Lord Mountjoy and I were at Oxford when I had spent frequent week-ends there. I hailed a cab.

Lady Wroxham, the mother of Mountjoy and the vanishing Augustus, was one of those women who take things as they come.

"How nice of you to come and see us!" she said. "Somebody told me you were abroad. Ted is in the south of France, in the yacht. Augustus is here. Mr. Abney, his schoolmaster, let him come up for the night. Sybil is having her birthday party. Go on in."

I went in. A dance had just finished. Strolling toward me, in his tightest Eton suit, his face shining with honest joy, was the errant Augustus. Close behind him, wearing the blue air of one for whom custom had staled the pleasures of life, was the Little Nugget.

I think they both saw me at the same moment. Augustus halted and shuffled his feet. The Nugget stropped up and accosted me like an old friend.

"Hello!" he said. "How did you get here?"

"LISEN—ARE YER GOIN TO PUT A STOP TO THAT FUSS BEFORE THEY KILL EACH OTHER?"

"HOW? I AINT GOIN TO MIX IN ANY HURRICANE LIKE THAT—I GOT A TWENTY-THREE ENDOWMENT ALMOST DUE I HAVE!"

"MR. DAZZLE PHONED AND SAID HE IS SICK AND WON'T BE DOWN TO THE OFFICE TO-DAY!"

"TOO BAD HE'S SICK. WELL NOW WE'LL HAVE PEACE AND QUIET WITH NO ARGUMENTS FOR ONE DAY AT LEAST!!!"

"HO-HUM!"

"LA-DEE-DA-DI-DO!"

"AH-EM-HMM!"

"I'M GOING HOME, MISS WINKLE! I CAN'T STAND IT AROUND HERE TO-DAY! IT'S TOO DARNED QUIET!!"

"LOOKIT! A FORTUNE! LOOKIT ALL THE PERFECTLY GOOD HAIRPINS!"

"WELL, IF WE CAN'T STOP 'EM I SHOULD STAND HERE IDLE!"

"HOW? I AINT GOIN TO MIX IN ANY HURRICANE LIKE THAT—I GOT A TWENTY-THREE ENDOWMENT ALMOST DUE I HAVE!"

"HO-HUM!"

"You little brute!"

My glowing eye, traveling past him met that of the Hon. Augustus Beckford, causing that youth to jump guiltily. The Nugget looked over his shoulder.

"Oh, he's all right! You don't have to worry about him. He was going to school tomorrow, anyway."

"What's the trouble?"

"Not showing up at your apartment?" I'll explain that all right.

"I shall be glad to listen."

"It's like this. It suddenly occurred to me that a day or two one way or the other wasn't going to affect our deal, and that while I was about it I might as well see a bit of London before I left. I suggested it to Becky, and the idea made the biggest kind of a hit with him. My money's gone. Cough up the fare, and I'll make the trip tomorrow. Mother'll be tickled to death to see me."

"She won't see you. We're going back to the school tomorrow."

"What's that? Going back to school?"

"I've altered my plans."

"I'm not going back to any old school. You daren't take me! Where'll you be if I tell the hot air merchant about our deal and you slipping me the money and all that?"

"Tell him what you like. He won't believe it."

"The truth of this came home to him."

"What's the matter with you? You get me away up to London, and the first thing that happens when I'm here is that you want to take me back. You make me tired!"

"Oden, old sport," I said cordially, "get your hat and coat, and I'll take you to a show. We can discuss business later over a bit of supper."

The gloom of his countenance melted into a pensive smile.

"You said something that time!" he observed joyfully.

Sugar.

New York, February 28.—Raw sugar was firmer and prices were advanced to the basis of 4½c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 7.03 for centrifugal. Business, however, was light. A lot of 5,000 bags of Cubas was sold to an operator for March shipment. Later Cubas sold at 5½c cost and freight to operators and refiners.

Raw sugar futures were strong and active on covering and buying by trade interests. Final prices were within a few points of the best and from 24 to 40 points net higher. Closing: March, 5.48; May, 5.53; July, 5.62; September, 5.71.

Refined sugar was firmer and unchanged to 50 points higher, with fine granulated now listed at 8.50@9.00c.

Refined futures were quiet with sales of one lot for March delivery at 8.50, or 30 points below the previous close.

Coffee.

New York, February 28.—Coffee futures were lower today under scattered liquidation. After opening 10 to 24 points lower, prices rallied a few points but eased off again and closing prices were the lowest of the day, showing net declines of 14 to 23 points. Estimated sales, 30,000 bags. Closing March, 11.32c; May, 10.97c; July, 10.95c.

SPALDING COUNTY
AWARDED NITRATE
OF SODA SHIPMENT

Griffin, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—The local chamber of commerce has been notified that it has been awarded 200 tons of nitrate of hoda from the government at Hermitage, Tenn. This will be sold to Spalding county farmers, and is a result of the co-operation of the bankers of the city, who are financing the sale, and the local chamber of commerce, which is backing the move-

The bankers of the city not only are financing the sale of nitrate of soda, but are assisting the farmers in the promotion of the cotton club and pig club recently organized here, which will stimulate the growing of cotton and raising of hogs in this county and redound to the good of the public generally.

County Agent Bennett, said to be one of the best county agents in the south, is conducting the sale of nitrate for the bankers and trade organization and is aiding in the work of the cotton and pig clubs. Mr. Bennett has been asked by the government to have general charge of the shipment of the government's nitrate of soda at Hermitage, Tenn., to various points throughout the state.

Bainbridge Women Take Great Interest in Forest Problems

Bainbridge, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. Lillian Conway of the (United) Women's Club, Tuesday delivered an informal and splendid talk to a small group of women Tuesday morning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Hines.

The talk interested to an extent with the scheduled meeting Monday night, but some of those who heard Mrs. Conway's address were so impressed that they asked her to make another talk that more might hear about a subject that is already attracting considerable interest in clubs and organizations here.

The talk resulted in conversation which brought out many questions, and explanations were given by Mrs. Conway. She put the subject in a very interesting light to those who have done repainting on highways and the subject of the forest.

The Women's Club is going to foster the movement and the legislative committee, chairmaned by Mrs. Conway, will be the subject of the club, for literature, etc., pertaining to the carrying on of the work in not only preserving the forest of the State but introducing a bill in the June session of the legislature for diameter limitations of trees.

MINISTER HELPS OFFICERS FOLLOW TRAIL OF THIEVES

Burglars entered the home of J. E. Snider, 240 West Tenth street, Wednesday night, stealing clothing, jewelry and a small amount of money. They were said to have picked up a side window was discovered about 10 o'clock when Mr. Snider and his family returned home from town. Police were notified immediately and two detectives, H. F. Moon and H. L. Turner were dispatched to the scene. Aided by the Rev. John W. Ham, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, who lives next door to Mr. Snider, they conducted a search of the premises. Tracks believed to have been made by the burglars were found but no trial was lost upon the pavement of Tenth street.

TAG AND AUTO STOLEN M. Powell Reports Two Visits in One Night.

Burglars entered the drug store of Fred C. Moore, 728 South Pryor street, before daylight Wednesday, and, after helping themselves bountifully to cigarettes, cigars, candies and other articles, walked off with a slot machine which contained approximately $25 in nickels.

M. Powell, of 450 Courtland street, Wednesday reported that two auto thieves paid him two visits during Tuesday night—the first time they took his license tag and the next trip they took the machine to go with it.

Four men, suspected of complicity in the theft of automobiles, are being held at police station, and are being grilled by detectives, who state they are confident they will be able to show their connection with the theft of several cars.

Two of these arrested—L. H. Evans, 26, of 19 Augusta avenue, and C. L. Stewart, 24, of 355 Grant street, were caught by Detective E. D. Meeks in a car said to have been driven from C. C. Walker, of 212 Barnett street.

The others held are Frank Hannah, 18, of 224 Oakland avenue, and Lawrence Stilwell, 27, of 231 Peachtree street. They were arrested by Detectives J. Hiram Davis and E. D. Meeks.

M. A. Blackburn, 19, who gave his home as New York City, is being held for examination by detectives, following his arrest at the Terminal station early Wednesday by Patrolman M. L. Petty, who found on the young man's person a diagram of various Atlanta residences, he stated.

Officer Petty noticed Blackburn acting queerly, he stated, and kept him under surveillance. Finally he walked suddenly up to Blackburn and found him carrying a piece of paper, which the officer seized and found it to be a diagram of an Atlanta home. Other similar sketches are said to have been found in his pockets.

Three Large Shiploads of Nitrate Received at Savannah Port in Past Few Days.

(Special.) The Springfield, a shipping board vessel with a heavy cargo, much of it from Georgia, was this afternoon reported grounded off Morrison Island, at the entrance to Charleston harbor. The Springfield is reported on the way to aid her and Savannah tugs may be sent to her aid tonight.

The Cacique with a heavy cargo of nitrate from South America was pulled up the ground off of Savannah this morning having been delayed only a few hours.

She is the third vessel loaded with nitrate to come in the past few days, others being the Tilton and the Arnot. The Tilton brought in nearly eleven thousand tons of the fertilizer ingredient by the way of the canal, the second largest shipment in one bottom to arrive at the port of Savannah in eight years.

Two-Thirds of Town Destroyed by Fire; One Store Remains

Bowdon, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Two-thirds of the business section of Bowdon, near here, was wiped out by fire early yesterday morning. It was learned here today. Only one business building is left standing in the town, the other two being destroyed. The loss is estimated at $35,000, only partially covered by insurance.

The fire is thought to have originated in the store of L. L. Robinson and spread to the concrete building next door, which was occupied by the post office and by a stock of merchandise belonging to Claud Alexander.

The cause of the fire is unknown, according to the report received here.

W. J. PERDUE DIES OF SUDDEN STROKE

Carrollton, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—W. J. Perdue, prominent business man of this city, was stricken and died Tuesday afternoon as he was driving his automobile in Heard county where he had gone on a business trip.

His car was met by some men in a wagon, who state they were attracted by the unusual actions of the car, which soon came to a stop. Investigating, they found Mr. Perdue unconscious and carried him to a nearby farm house, where he died a few minutes later.

He was highly esteemed in business circles in Carrollton and Carroll county where he lived all of his life. He was a prominent warehouseman, cotton buyer and fertilizer dealer.

Mr. Perdue is survived by his widow and two married daughters. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

65 NEGROES JAILED IN RAID ON DANCE

Sixty-five negro men and women, the majority of whom were said to have been under the influence of whisky, were arrested late Wednesday night following a raid upon a house on Dinwiddie street where officers stated a wide open "buck and wing" dance was under full swing.

The patrol wagon was forced to make four trips, transporting the merry-makers from the house to police headquarters.

Officers E. S. Acree and M. B. Johnson made the raid.

Public Schools In College Park May Be Closed

College Park, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—College Park public schools will close immediately unless funds are raised in some way to meet the expenses, according to an announcement today by J. A. Northcutt, secretary of the College Park board of education.

Mr. Northcutt declared that all of the school funds had been expended, and that they were operating at present on "hopes" members of the school board and city council personally "standing" for the loans that are being made to meet current expenses.

A petition will be presented to the city council at its meeting Monday night calling for an election for the voters to pass on the question of raising the tax rate for school purposes.

The tax rate was doubled by the voters at an election held in April, 1921, but this election recently was declared illegal by the Georgia supreme court. About three-fourths of the school funds were expended in the previous election.

Since 1917, when the College Park schools were withdrawn from the county school system, the enrollment has increased approximately 120 per cent, the number of teachers 100 per cent, teachers' salaries increased about 40 per cent, a high school has been added, and also the negro school. It obviously is impossible to meet 1923 conditions on the 1917 income.

Under existing state laws any city may increase its tax for school purposes if it is approved by two-thirds of the registered voters. The law also provides that the election shall be held not less than 20 days nor more than 40 days after a petition is presented to city council asking for the election to be called.

Mr. Northcutt declared that prompt action is absolutely necessary if the schools are to remain open. Slowness in the payment of taxes this year may force the schools to close temporarily, regardless of the election, it is stated.

Race Problem Started When Cain Slew Abel, Says Tuskegee Head

Chicago, February 28.—The race problem as encountered in America as between the white and black races first started when Cain slew Abel, according to Dr. R. R. Moton, of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, speaking today before the Chicago Woman's club.

"The race problem is the adjustment of man's relation to his brother," he said.

"Many persons believe," Dr. Moton said, "that the negro wants to be with white people because they are white. That is not the foundation in fact for this," he declared, adding that "the negro enjoys the companionship of his race and never loses an opportunity to be with them."

"When a negro shows an inclination to be with white people, it is not because he wants to be with white people as such, but because he wants to get the best land, position, education, comforts, conveniences, and protection," he said.

"It is self-evident that the negro has practically no share in the making or execution of laws. He knows that when he is segregated that underneath the segregation is the idea that he is inferior and unfit for association with decent people of any other race. He knows that in his section of the city the streets are not paved; that criminals of his own and other races are allowed to run at large and prey upon the innocent and the ignorant."

"In Southern communities, long before segregation was ever spoken of,
